VOL 100 NO. 139

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, JUNE 15, 1942—16 PAGES

PRICE FIVE CENTS

A 'SHIP FOR A SHIP'—Japanese aircraft carrier Ryukaku, of the recent Coral Sea invasion fleet, is paid in kind as it blows furiously after a torpedo attack by U.S. forces. The vessel later went to the bottom, as did the 33,000-ton U.S. carrier Lexington. Photo approved by U.S. Navy department.

'ABANDON SHIP'—AND MEN GO OVERBOARD BEFORE LEXINGTON'S DEATH PLUNGE—In its death throes, the giant U.S. plane carrier Lexington blazes from Jap bomb and torpedo hits as men swarm like flies over the ship's side just before the 33,000-ton vessel exploded and plunged to the bottom of the Coral Sea off Australia. A "light price to pay" for victory over the enemy invasion fleet is the way navy officers wrote off the loss as compared with at least 15 Jap ships sunk.

Final Bulletins

Jap Cruiser Sunk Off Aleutians

BALTIMORE (AP)—United States torpedo planes sank a Japanese cruiser and scored a direct hit on an aircraft carrier of the main Japanese task force off the Aleutian Islands, a telegram from Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air force, to Glenn L. Martin, aircraft manufacturer, disclosed this afternoon.

In Washington, the War Department declined immediate comment, although its public relations department approved use of the telegram.

Gen. Arnold's message, congratulating the Martin Company on successful use of Martin craft as torpedo planes, said three attacks had been made in the Aleutian Islands on the main Japanese force.

Bag 12 Axis Planes

VALETTA (AP)—Twelve Axis planes were destroyed over and near Malta today and Sunday night, a British communiqué said tonight.

"Today during offensive patrols our fighters punished the enemy," the communiqué said.

Fliers Killed

MACLEOD, Alta. (CP)—Two bombing planes collided in mid-air today five miles northeast of Granum and both crashed, killing an undetermined number of R.C.A.F. fliers.

Surveys North

WINNIPEG (CP)—Frederic A. Delano, chairman of the U.S. national resources council planning board at Washington and uncle of President Roosevelt, passed through Winnipeg today en route to survey the proposed Alaska railway and highway routes. He said he would investigate and submit reports on the advisability of building a railway line from Prince George, B.C., through to Alaska and of constructing two new Alaska highways.

Floods, Diphtheria At Okanagan Lake

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—The level of Okanagan Lake rose 19 inches above its controlled maximum at this Okanagan valley city during the week-end, inundating some lakeshore houses, flooding basements and threatening the city's sewerage system. Some cases of diphtheria were reported today from the districts where water systems have become contaminated, causing health authorities some concern.

Shot in the Back

BERNE (AP)—Fascist newspapers received here Sunday gave headline prominence to Italy's first execution for violation of the country's food laws. Case of the 22-year-old youth, put to death by shooting in the back, was complicated by the murder of the policeman who attempted to arrest him. The youth was charged with the illegal sale of flour.

Sugar Ration Books Ready Thursday

OTTAWA (CP)—The Postmaster General's office announced this afternoon that sugar ration book application cards and instructions will be distributed by the post office department between June 18 and 23.

Less Gasoline

OTTAWA (CP)—An announcement on gasoline rationing, with possible reduction in allowances, particularly for the lower categories, is expected within a few days, it was learned from official sources today.

Conscription Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Commons this afternoon the one condition which would cause a party government to impose conscription for overseas service would be that democratic institutions were threatened with destruction. In such a condition, said Mr. Gardiner, none could oppose such a decision.

Fined For Lights

VANCOUVER (CP)—Six fines were imposed by Magistrate MacKenzie Matheson today on charges of unlawful display of lights in business premises contrary to the Defence of Canada Regulations. Fines of $20 were imposed on Canadian Airways Limited, Morris O'Mansky and George Shaw and fines of $10 were imposed on R. Hoffmeister, Gladys P. Speer and H. Hacking. In all cases the lights were burning unattended.

Nazi Kharkov Claim

BERLIN (FROM GERMAN BROADCASTS) (AP)—The Berlin radio broadcast a Transocean agency claim tonight that "German formations east of Kharkov have crossed the Donets River at all important points in the course of their advance eastward." Transocean asserted this information came from "competent Berlin military quarters."

Shipyard Worker Killed in Mishap

Suffering severe injuries and shock when a steel plate he was unloading Sunday afternoon at the V.M.D. shipyard fell on him, C. L. Butcher, 1845 Kings Road, died in St. Joseph's Hospital at 6.45 this morning.

The fatality, which was the first serious accident recorded at the V.M.D. shipyards, occurred on the docks.

The victim, who was 33 years old, was a native of Winnipeg, who came to Victoria to live 29 years ago. He is survived by his wife, two sons, Ronald and Lloyd, and one daughter, Lucille, at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butcher of Foam Lake, Sask., and several aunts and uncles.

City police announced today that an inquest will be held into the fatality. Funeral arrangements have been made for Wednesday at the meeting room, 739 Kings Road, with interment in the Colwood cemetery.

Allied Force Bound for Suez?

Italians Report Battle In Mediterranean

By Associated Press
A running sea-air battle, which on the face of Axis claims—the only information available thus far—seems to have stemmed from a major strategic move of the Allies, was being fought today at Italy's Mediterranean doorstep between the Italian island of Sardinia and the Tunisian coast of Africa.

The location of the battle, the strength and composition given by Rome for the Allied naval force and the reckless expenditure of planes in the attack on it suggested either that Italian territory itself might be under attack or that the Allies were engaged in a great transfer of strength between Gibraltar and Suez.

The Italian high command, in a special communiqué, claimed that two cruisers, one destroyer and four steamships were sunk out of one of two British convoys, and a battleship, an aircraft carrier, two cruisers, one destroyer and four steamships heavily damaged.

STRONG PROTECTION

The Italians said the convoy attacked was protected by "numerous units of the line and by two aircraft carriers." Spotting the convoy early Saturday, Italians said their scout planes later lost sight of it and the first attack was not delivered until Sunday.

"Numerous formations" of torpedo planes, bombers and fighters then struck the flotilla, the Italians asserted. They acknowledged 20 planes lost themselves and claimed shooting 15 carrier-borne planes down in flames.

Among the missing Italian crews were two air force commanders and two squadron commanders.

"The operations were resumed in the early hours of this morning against the remaining units," the communiqué concluded.

BOLD OPERATION

The newspaper Il Giornale d'Italia said the convoy attacked consisted of about 30 ships, including two aircraft carriers, a battleship, four cruisers, 10 destroyers and from 12 to 14 transports—the largest convoy Britain ever sent into the Mediterranean.

Evidently it had come from the Atlantic in fulfillment of a plan so urgent that it had sailed boldly into the range of planes based on the Italian islands rather than the long way around the Cape of Good Hope and thence into the Mediterranean via the Suez Canal.

The Italians claimed the convoy got as far east as Sicily, where it was "forced to turn back."

Germans Kill Germans

LONDON (CP)—Reports from Stockholm, published in London today said seven politicians were killed and 25 German dockworkers later executed as a result of rioting over coffee in Hamburg. The Ministry of Information said it had no confirmation of the report.

Russian Lines Hold

Soviet Black Sea Fleet Blasts Germans Around Sevastopol

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
MOSCOW (AP)—Steaming into the fight for Sevastopol with its guns thundering, the Soviet Black Sea fleet was reported today to have brought aid to the hard-pressed land garrison by laying down a deadly barrage which took a heavy toll of the Axis assault forces.

The battles in the tightly-drawn siege lines around the Crimean port and on the shell-pocked front east of Kharkov in the Ukraine, continued with undiminished fury.

No Report of Gains By Enemy Forces

However there were no further reports of German gains on either front since Sunday dispatches said the Germans had pushed forward in some sectors at Kharkov and turned loose a full-scale onslaught against Sevastopol in an attempt to smash the Russian defences by sheer weight of men and armor.

The Germans were reported to have bolstered their assault forces with strong reserve strength, including units shifted from other fronts.

Their former timetable of attack—from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m.—was said to have given away to 24-hour-a-day assault.

The Nazis, however, had little to show for their heavy sacrifices in either of those key battles of the coming Russian campaign.

In the last two days, the Soviet Information Bureau said, the Germans have lost 2,850 men and much material in the Kharkov front alone.

25,000 Prisoners Taken, Nazis Claim

BERLIN (From German Broadcast, AP)—The German high command said today that despite stubborn resistance Red Army units defending the Russian navy base of Sevastopol have been thrown out of several positions.

In the battle east of Kharkov, the communiqué said, "remnants of the beaten enemy" have been destroyed and 25,000 prisoners have been taken, along with the destruction or capture of 226 tanks and 208 field guns.

Military quarters said this battle, fought to break off the northern pincer of the Russian forces, now had ended.

The declaration the remnants of an encircled force there had been mopped up, followed a high command report Sunday that most of the force had been annihilated and 20,000 prisoners taken. (This is the psychological week for Hitler to show his people, if he can, that the winter disaster on the Russian steppes has not drained the German army of its lightning power.)

(Spring was the season heralded by the Germans for new progress deeper into Russia. In another week it will have faded into summer with Germany's 1942 offensive a dud so far except for the reconquest of the Kerch peninsula.

(One week from today Germany's invasion of Russia will be one year old. Without a solid achievement to feed on since the Red army line recoiled before Moscow and started pushing the Nazis back last fall, Germany's men will be asked to fight and her people to support a second year of war against a foe whose army, they were told by Hitler long ago, was crushed and broken.)

London Expects Wider Nazi Attacks

LONDON (CP)—The main German attack in Russia has not yet been started despite the ferocity of the action around Kharkov and Sevastopol, informed military quarters here said today.

U.S. Organizing Blows

Japs May Attempt More Aleutian Moves

WASHINGTON (AP)—An effort by the Japanese to expand their landings in the Aleutian Islands is expected by United States military authorities, but whether they will try to knock out blows against important American bases is considered debatable.

Any large-scale operations well over into the waters of the western hemisphere, it was said, would certainly bring a swarm of United States army and navy bombers down on invading ships. Short of desperation, the Japanese might well wish to avoid such attacks at this time, so soon after their bitter experiences with American airpower in the Coral Sea and Midway battles.

REMOTE

This would not, however, preclude further action of the kind which last week put a small Jap force on remote Attu Island, and the penetration of Jap ships into Kiska harbor in the Rat Island group. Kiska is 560 miles west of Dutch Harbor and Attu is 770 miles west, locations which place them at the extreme end of the Aleutians and relatively close to Japan. (Attu is 2,400 miles from Victoria.)

The nature of the enemy force which conducted the Attu and Kiska operations has not been described by the navy, but experts said it probably was the usual task force composed of one or more aircraft carriers, cruisers and destroyers which would be necessary to afford minimum protection to troop transports.

A general German offensive is believed impending, however, and soon Field Marshal Fedor von Bock is expected to smash at the Russians on a 220-mile front from Kharkov to the Black Sea.

The Germans are attempting to clear their rear in the Crimea by attacking Sevastopol, but informed quarters here said they might not wait for fall of that naval fortress before beginning their grand attack.

The heavy thrusts are expected to be from Kharkov and Taganrog on the Black Sea, and military quarters believe Von Bock's fondest dream is to smash from Kharkov to Stalingrad on the Volga. If he could do that he would cut off all the Russian armies south of Kharkov and in the Don and Donets regions and sever Russia from her main oil supply in the Caucasus.

This, or similar task forces, probably still were at work in the Aleutian area, feeling out American defenses and maneuvering for landings on other islands. These operations, it was believed here may lead to further attacks from the air on Dutch Harbor and other Alaska defence posts.

Military experts emphasized, however, that the strategic areas which the enemy has most to fear were the Hawaiian sector in the central Pacific and the New Zealand-Australian front to the southwest, together with the chain of supply line islands in between.

DIVERSION

Consequently, many were inclined to regard the Aleutian activities of the enemy as primarily in the nature of a diversion designed either (1) to draw defence strength from these other Pacific areas in the hope of clearing the way for a new offensive stroke in the southern or central Pacific or (2) to divert American forces to the north in order to prevent American attacks on the mandated islands which Japan has less capacity to defend since her heavy losses in ships and planes in the Coral Sea and Midway conflicts.

Nazis Threaten More Deaths

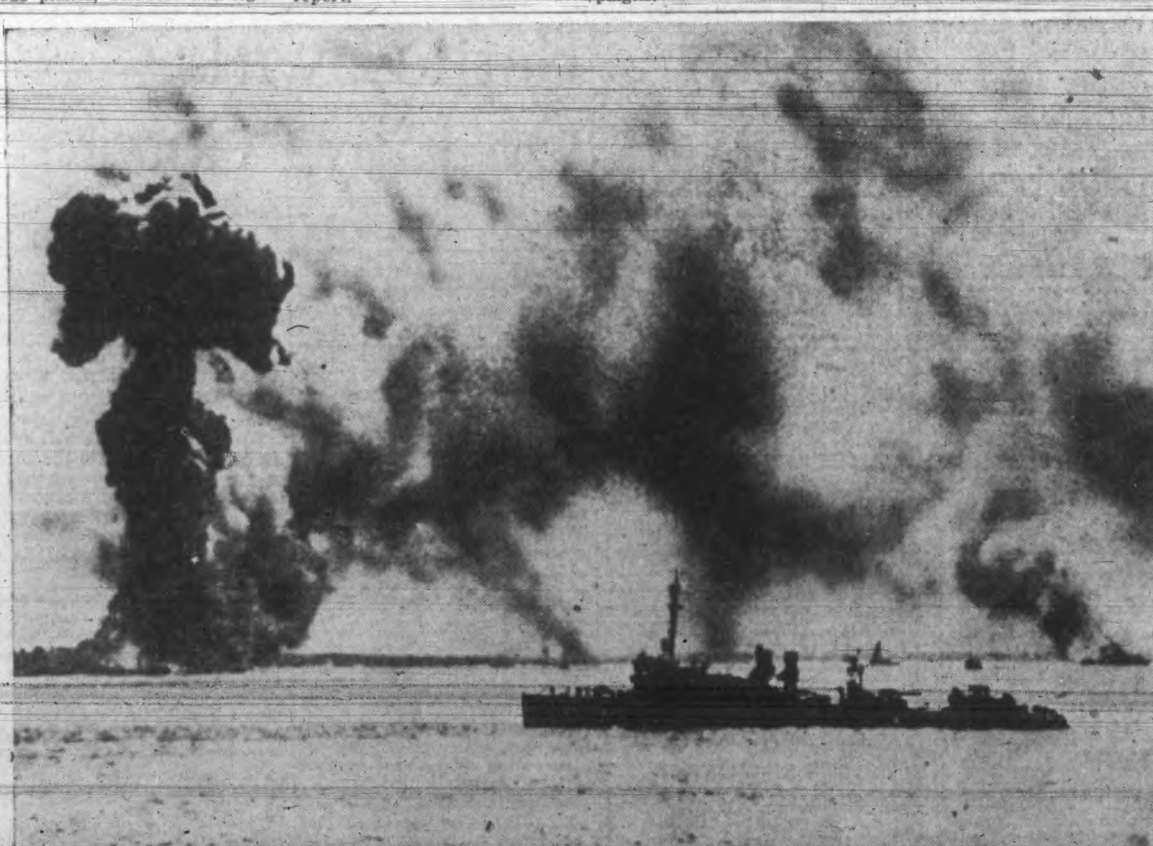

LONDON (CP)—A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm today said it was reported there the Germans had given Czechs in Bohemia and Moravia an ultimatum expiring Thursday to deliver up the slayers of Reinhard Heydrich, the Gestapo official, or take the consequences.

The reports received in Stockholm from Berlin did not specify what measures were threatened.

Montreal Recruits

MONTREAL (CP)—Mayor Adhemar Raynault today issued a proclamation urging all citizens of Montreal to "go to your nearest reserve army recruiting office and offer your services to your country."

The proclamation was one of seven made by as many mayors in the Montreal district today, each publicly read to the accompaniment of guards of honor and buglers, as a week-long drive for 10,000 recruits for the reserve army opened here.

Captain Tells How Carrier Lexington Took Toll of Japanese Before Sunk

By ROBERT S. PRESCOTT
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Sinking of the U.S.S. Lexington, gutted by fires below decks and rocked by explosion after explosion of burning ammunition and gasoline, was described vividly by Rear-Admiral Frederick C. Sherman, commander of the big aircraft carrier.

Sherman said the end of the Lexington, fatally crippled by Japanese planes in the battle of the Coral Sea May 8 and finally sent under by torpedoes from an American destroyer, nevertheless came as a stirring part of a great sea victory.

"It was the first time in history there has been an air-sea battle against aircraft carriers," Sherman said in an interview here.

"Yet with inferior forces and fewer planes, we sank two Japanese carriers and severely damaged another before the Lexington succumbed."

For his part of the action, Sherman was promoted from captain to rear-admiral.

BLAST JAP CARRIER
Sherman said the long-range air battle actually started near Misima Island May 7, when U.S. navy torpedo and dive-bombing planes blasted a Japanese carrier to destruction in a five-minute attack.

"We discovered then the devastating power of an aircraft carrier's attack group—it was almost unbelievable," Sherman said.

"In a later aerial fight that day four of our fighters surprised nine Japanese Zero fighters—three of the Japs got away. We lost one plane."

"This action led us to believe there were enemy carriers in the area. At dawn May 8 our scouting forces went out, and finally located two Japanese aircraft carriers and several other enemy ships hidden in a rain squall about 200 miles away.

AIRCRAFT CARRIER'S BLAZING END IN CORAL SEA—A "light price to pay" for an overwhelming victory against a Jap invasion fleet in the Coral Sea off Australia is what naval officials considered the loss of the 33,000-ton aircraft carrier U.S.S. Lexington, shown here as she exploded when flaming gasoline reached her torpedo lockers. Most of the ship's personnel were saved.

"It was evident to us our forces and the enemy had contacted each other at about the same time, however, so we prepared for attack as we sent two raiding squadrons out.

USE 1,000-POUND BOMBS

"We found one of the Japs—the Shokaku—about 11 a.m. and pounded it with 1,000-pound bombs and hit it with five torpedoes. Our planes left her settling fast, with flames and smoke rising nearly 1,000 feet in the air.

Thirteen minutes later they came at each of our carriers with 54 planes. We were ready for them. Air patrols intercepted them, and there was a very hot aerial fight.

"We shot down 40 of their 108 planes, but not before they had dropped bombs and torpedoes.

"No defensive forces can stop a determined offense by air.

"We counted 11 torpedo wakes in our direction. We avoided all but two. The Jap dive-bombers came roaring down, and they got the Lexington with three bombs, one of heavy calibre. There were a lot of close misses, and many men on the flight deck were killed by fragments.

"Fires were started, and the Lexington took a 6-degree list. We checked our speed, and within half an hour the damage control squad had her back on an even keel.

BRING FIRES UNDER CONTROL

"Lieut.-Cmdr. H. R. Healy, damage control officer, reported three of four fires were under control, and the other was only smouldering.

"But 5 minutes later the ship was shaken by a tremendous explosion from below. We lost our communications system as heavy fires broke out anew and spread rapidly toward the flight deck.

"The fire mains, carrying the water pressure, were severed and it became difficult to fight the fire. Ammunition stored forward began to explode at intervals of 5 or 10 minutes.

"Flames spread to the hangar deck. That had to be abandoned, but the engineering crew below stuck to their posts, although the intense heat was blistering the paint on bulkheads around them.

"The fire made such headway we finally were forced to order the engineering men on deck. Even as they came topside, the telephone communication failed. If we had delayed in giving the order, they never would have reached the top alive.

ABANDON SHIP

"With no communications, our steering gear gone and no chance to extinguish the fires, Rear-Admiral A. W. Fitch, whose flag the Lexington flew as commander of

"I gave the order at 5:07 p.m. 'At sunset, in a very orderly fashion the men—reluctantly—were taken off by destroyers and cruisers.

ITALIAN CLAIM

ROME (From Italian Broadcasts, AP) — The Italian high command claimed today that Axis forces in the Libyan desert had bypassed British units near Acroma and had driven to the Mediterranean coast west of Tobruk.

The Italians claimed that British forces remaining to the west of the new Axis gap were encircled. This would mean the forces defending Ain el Gazala, northern extremity of the original line which the Axis has outflanked and pierced.

The number of prisoners and captured war material "cannot be estimated for the moment," the high command said in its special communique.

The claimed break-through, after fierce armored combat south of Acroma, which subsided in a dust storm Sunday, was said to have been made across the Via Balbo, the old Italian road along the coast.

The Italians said the British defending forces had been split in heavy fighting.

In the regular communique the Italians had claimed capture of 69 tanks, 13 guns and 700 men in two days' fighting.

"The battle has become fluid, with the Germans attacking northward from Trigh Capuzzo and our mobile forces in turn

150,000 Autos Going Off Road By June, 1943

TORONTO (CP) — Supplies Controller Alan H. Williamson told the Canadian Transit Association today that at least 150,000 Canadian passenger automobiles will be off the road by June, 1943.

In a blunt, forthright speech, Mr. Williamson also predicted that a year from now:

1. The oil shortage may be so serious pleasure travel will be "a thing of the past" and "all our ideas of essential transit may be outmoded."

2. Some railway rolling stock, at least, will no longer be serviceable.

3. The rubber shortage will be so acute tire repairs may be placed on a priority basis.

Comparing the transportation problem to a "long-legged collier pup, all ears, all legs," Mr. Williamson said next year it would have to be likened to a baby elephant "getting bigger and hungrier as he grows."

"One year from now," he warned the association, "you will be up against one of the most serious problems any group of men in this country ever faced."

Rubber alone constituted "one of the gravest, most ominous problems in our history" because the shortage was so acute "our whole war program is in jeopardy." Production from sources outside Asia—the Amazon Valley, Africa and Mexico—had never totaled more than 75,000 tons a year.

DEFICIT 1,000,000 TONS

"Place that theoretical 75,000 tons on one side of the scale," he said. "On the other place the deficit of nearly 1,000,000 tons which the United Nations must make up, and I think you will agree that, on the basis of past performance, there is little to be gained by looking to Brazil, Africa and Mexico for the rubber we so desperately need."

The answer lay in synthetic production. But here, too, there was a question mark.

Darwin Beats Off Jap Bombers

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia (CP) — Darwin, Australia's north coast base, was raided by Japanese aircraft today for the third successive day and a few casualties resulted, Allied headquarters announced.

Twenty-seven Japanese bombers escorted by fighters, the largest force yet to reach Darwin in the series of week-end assaults, came over this afternoon. The headquarters announcement, which was not a formal communique, said damage was slight.

Eliminating Taxi Duplication

VANCOUVER—First step towards eliminating duplication in taxi services in Vancouver has been taken.

Under arrangements made by S. Sigmundson, regional transit controller, effective today, there is a joint service between Vancouver and the civic airport. The Dan MacLure's Taxi Limited and the Blue & White Taxi Limited have pooled their interests with a view to reducing unessential mileage.

Following conferences with Mr. Sigmundson the service is to be known as the Airline Limousine Service. Each firm is providing two seven-passenger cars which are operated from a central dispatching office, and has an Airline Limousine, telephone number.

These cars are reserved for this airport service and will do no other taxi work.

Even the route has been fixed by the transit controller. From the airport the cars travel by way of Granville, Smith, Howe, Georgia to the Hotel Vancouver and follow the same route in reverse to the airport. They are not allowed to make any detours. Passengers may be picked up or discharged at any point along the route but only airline passengers or crews are carried.

"It is learned that Ken Harada, Japanese minister to the Vatican, has called to the attention of Vatican authorities that in the event the Vatican permitted the stationing of a Chungking representative at the Vatican it would ignore Japan's position, as Japan now is fighting the Chungking regime."

(Last Tuesday the Chungking government announced the appointment of Sien Shuh-kang as the first Chinese minister to the Vatican. Its original announcement that it had arranged for an exchange of diplomatic representatives with the Vatican came within a week after Japan, March 27, announced the appointment of Harada as Japan's first minister to the Holy See.

To United Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt, welcoming Mexico and the Philippines into the United Nations alliance against the Axis in a White House Flag Day ceremony Sunday asserted confidently that:

"We of the United Nations have the power and the men and the will at last to assure man's heritage."

He said the peoples of the United Nations are "taking the sword from the oppressors' hands," and with it "they will destroy those tyrants."

Prior to Sunday, 26 nations, including Great Britain, the United States, Canada, Russia and China, had adhered to the "declaration by United Nations" of Jan. 4 embracing the four freedoms of the Atlantic charter and pledging each signatory to use its full resources in the war, and not to conclude a separate peace with the enemy.

NOW 28 NATIONS

Adherence by Mexico and the Philippines brought the total to 28 nations and commonwealths.

Surrounded by Dr. Francisco Castillo Majera, the Mexican ambassador; President Manuel Quezon of the Philippine Commonwealth, and the diplomatic representatives of 25 other signatories, Mr. Roosevelt declared:

"Today the Republic of Mexico and the Commonwealth of the Philippine Islands joins us. We welcome these valiant peoples to the company of those who fight for freedom."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke to the diplomatic representatives in the state dining-room of the White House, sitting at a table used by President Lincoln. The ambassadors and ministers of the governments allied against the Axis stood beside the flags of their countries forming a huge "V" on each side and to the rear of the President.

As the Mexican ambassador and President Quezon added their signatures to the "declaration of the United Nations," the President remarked:

"And may I add there is plenty of room for more signatures."

Asserting the four freedoms were the rights of men of every creed and race wherever they live—a "heritage, long withheld," the President said the people of the United Nations "know that their faith cannot be broken by any man or any force."

"And we know there are other millions who in their silent captivity share our belief," he added.

GERMANY'S CHOICE

"We ask the German people, still dominated by their Nazi whip-masters, whether they would rather have the mechanized hell of Hitler's 'new' order or—in place of that, freedom of speech and religion, freedom from want and from fear."

"We ask the Japanese people, trampled by their savage lords of slaughter, whether they would rather continue slavery and blood or, in place of them—freedom of speech and religion, freedom from want and from fear."

"We ask the brave, unconquered people of the nations the Axis invaders have dishonored and despoiled, whether they would rather yield to conquerors or—have freedom of speech and religion, freedom from want and from fear."

"We know the answer. They know the answer. We know that man, born to freedom in the image of God, will not forever suffer the oppressors' sword. The peoples of the United Nations are taking that sword from the oppressors' hands. With it they will destroy those tyrants. The brazen tyrannies pass. Man marches forward toward the light."

Japs Now Claim
U.S. Cruiser Sunk

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts, AP)—Imperial headquarters claimed today Japanese naval forces had sunk a cruiser of the San Francisco type and a submarine in the Battle of Midway Island in addition to losses previously reported inflicted on the United States fleet.

(There was no confirmation of such a claim from any source. The United States navy department has listed American losses in the battle as one destroyer sunk and an aircraft carrier damaged. The Japanese previously had claimed the sinking of two U.S. aircraft carriers.)

(The San Francisco is one of seven cruisers of the Minneapolis class. She displaces 9,950 tons, is armed with nine 8-inch guns and carries a crew of 594. She was completed in 1934.)

United Nations Renew Pledge
To Victory On Great Flag Day

Canadian Press

The United Nations stood pledged anew today to press on to victory. In a world-wide celebration of Flag Day, Sunday they vowed to put an end to Axis tyranny and establish a peaceful order in which all men can enjoy freedom, security and justice.

From Capetown, Washington, London, Moscow and Chungking, the hope of Allied victory and a better world was expressed.

In Washington President Roosevelt welcomed Mexico and the Philippine Commonwealth into the alliance, raising to 28 the number of nations pledged to win the war, and reasserted his belief that the people of these lands "know that their faith cannot be broken by any man or any force."

Minister Speaks
From Washington

Leighton McCarthy, Canadian Minister to the United States, said in a broadcast from Washington that the spirit which guided the United Nations into the war "will guide them in the world-wide reconstruction" after the war.

"We will pursue this struggle to a complete and decisive triumph, not for vengeance for our dead but for the safety of our children," Mr. McCarthy said.

In Great Britain 1,100,000 flags flew and throughout the Empire people heard a message from Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

"In this ceremony," he said, "we pledge to each other not merely support and succor till victory comes but that wider understanding, that quickened sense of human sympathy, that recognition of common purpose of humanity without which the suffering and striving of the United Nations would not achieve its full award."

Cripps Forecasts
Doom For Japanese

Broadcasting to the Chinese people, Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's Lord Privy Seal, declared: "The time will come when we and America can strike Japan and then together with you, our brave Chinese allies, we will win that victory which our combined power makes inevitable."

All of the armed services and all types of war workers paraded in London in mid-afternoon. King George and Queen Elizabeth from a dais at the gates of Buckingham Palace reviewed the miles of marchers. With them were the two princesses and the Princess Royal, King Haakon of Norway, King Peter of Yugoslavia, Prince Bernhard, husband of Crown Princess Juliana of the Netherlands, and heads of various European governments now in London.

Prime Minister Churchill stood at the side of the dais with diplomats, including U.S. Ambassador John C. Winant and the Russian ambassador, Ivan Maisky.

Among the Dominions' service men who stepped through streets lined by from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 people, were Canadian army troops and members of the R.C.A.F. and the Royal Canadian Navy headed by Lieut. W. M. Landymore of Oakville, Ont.

Crowds Break Ranks
Cheering King, Queen

The spectators shouted tumultuously. As the King and Queen returned to the palace, the huge throng broke through the police lines. Hundreds climbed the palace railings, others clambered over the Victoria Memorial. The Mall was practically impassable. When Churchill left his car was held up by the shouting, flag-waving thousands.

Scotland, too, gave an impressive demonstration. The turnout in Glasgow, Edinburgh, Aberdeen and Dundee was described as "magnificent."

In northern Ireland, Maj.-Gen. Russell P. Hartle, field commander of the A.E.F., said it was a privilege for American troops there "to participate with the Allies in such a demonstration."

"We shall carry relief to the oppressed who despite their severe torture still hold to their faith that truth, honor and dignity will prevail," he said.

In Moscow, the Soviet newspaper Izvestia said the celebration of United Nations flag day coincided with the "truly historic events opening a new chapter in the annals of the war of liberation against the Fascist hordes"—the signing of the agreement between the United States, Russia and Britain. Flags were flown from all public buildings. Flags of the United Nations waved above the Kremlin.

'United We Win'
Chinese Slogan

"United we fight, united we win" was the favorite slogan in Chungking as the Chinese celebrated. Enthusiastic crowds shouted: "May the United Nations live 10,000 years!"

Gen. and Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, with foreign and Chinese notables, attended a foreign office reception. In the evening a big lantern procession moved through the streets.

India, British, United States, Chinese and Netherlands troops paraded in New Delhi, India, a detachment of American troops leading the march past the reviewing stand. The Allied standards were carried by six-foot members of the Viceroy's bodyguard.

Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa, declared in a broadcast that "what the Infant League of Nations failed to achieve, the United Nations will attempt and will rebuild on deeper and surer foundations."

From London, Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, Premier of the Polish government in exile, sent a message to Polish troops everywhere to "let the American colors fly from Polish masts in a sign of the lasting friendship which links us and the United States."

Strength of U.S.
Rapidly Grows

Many of the diplomats in Washington made the day an occasion for broadcasting messages to their people. Here are excerpts from some of them:

Lord Halifax, the British ambassador: "The people of America, famous for their energy, courage and industrial capacity, are developing their giant strength on a scale and with a speed that is truly staggering. Every hour, every day brings nearer the time of liberation."

Maxim Litvinoff, Russian ambassador: "Today's demonstrations by the United Nations will cheer and encourage their soldiers on all fronts—on land, on water and in the air."

EACH UNITED NATION
FIGHTS 2 WARS

CLEVELAND (CP)—L. W. Brockington of Ottawa, former wartime assistant to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, told the 27th Kiwanis International Convention here Sunday:

"Today's (flag day) celebration is of course far more than courtesy. It is a recognition of two things, slowly but surely implanted in our conscience and consciousness... first, that each one of our (united) nations is fighting and has been fighting two wars... its own and somebody else's..."

"For five years China has fought America's war and our war and her own. Russia today fights Britain's war and her own. For the two most glorious years in her history, Britain fought, and still fights today war for herself and her kindred. It is true, but does anyone now doubt that she fought and fights for the world as well?"

"Today, you too fight for the world and yourselves. Yes, we are all fighting somebody else's war, thank God. For that is why our cause is honorable above all causes. And that is one reason, too, why the flags of freedom, some whole, some torn, some tattered, some in shreds, flew together in this great-hearted land today."

"And the other truth we have recognized today is just this simple truth... as long as the flags fly together in war, we shall conquer in the sacred sign of God's fatherhood..."

Speaking of America's entrance into the war, he said: "The free frontier has reached for the gun. And 130,000,000 of the freest people of the world have made themselves the vigilantes of the world."

Norway Patriots
Fight Quislingites

LONDON (CP)—A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm reported today many persons were wounded in Norway in a battle between followers of Vidkun Quisling, pro-Nazi premier, and other Norwegians in the towns of Bissa and Selbu, near Trondheim.

Armed Quislingites were said to have entered the towns to "take reprisals" against the population, but to have encountered fierce resistance.

Disturbances were reported also at Troendelag.

Governor-General
Warns of Attack

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—Canadians were called on Sunday by the Earl of Athlone to "be prepared" because no one knew from what direction an attack might come.

"Attack may come from the Atlantic or the Pacific," the Governor-General told more than 600 members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade and nursing divisions and thousands of citizens gathered in Pinafore Park.

"I dislike a jitterbug as much as I do a black fly, but I do want Canada to be prepared," His Excellency added.

King and Queen Tour
Fen Country

LONDON (CP)—The King and Queen toured the Cambridgeshire fen country by automobile and barge Saturday, making the first visit by a reigning sovereign to that sector in many centuries.

Their Majesties saw thousands of acres of new land, reclaimed from waste, which will produce tons of foodstuffs as an aid to the war effort. They both commented on the richness of the earth, which has lain under several feet of water for many years. They also chatted with men and women working there and saw many acres of reclaimed land now bearing sugar beets.

Calgary Man Promoted

CRANBROOK (CP)—Word has been received here by Mrs. C. S. Andrews that her husband, Lieut. Colin S. Andrews of the Royal Canadian Army Paymaster Corps, has been promoted to captain. He went overseas with the Calgary Highlanders in May, 1940.

Canadians Win
D.F.C. and D.F.M.

LONDON (CP)—The Distinguished Flying Cross has been awarded Wing Cmdr. Ronald Emberg of Montreal and the Distinguished Flying Medal has gone to Flt. Sgt. Gordon James Strutt of Shawville, Que., and Sgt. Kenneth William Craig of Cornwall, Ont., R.C.A.F. headquarters announced today.

Emberg, twenty-two, hit an enemy destroyer and left it badly damaged.

Strutt and Craig were captain and second pilot respectively of an aircraft which attacked a submarine in the Bay of Biscay from a height of about 40 feet. The citation said:

"They attacked with such speed and skill that the explosives were detonated before the U-boat

Mutual Trust Now

TO REPEAT AT THIS STAGE THAT MR. Stalin never forgave Britain and France for not inviting a representative of the Soviet Union to sit in at Munich is to belabor a truism the tragic significance of which is now a matter of history. But it is well to remember the fact as we of the United Nations congratulate ourselves on the removal last week of what appear to be the last obstacles to complete unity of thought and action between Moscow, London and Washington. For it must be patent to everybody in anti-Axis lands that upon the degree of mutual trust and confidence we manifest during the war's progress will it be possible to measure the prospects for a peace that will be universal and permanent.

Mr. Molotov's intimate dealings with Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt unquestionably have dissipated much if not all of the old suspicions which, even since last June 22, have maintained a barrier between the two principal democracies and the leaders of a valiant people whose sacrifices in recent months will not be fully understood or appreciated for many a long day. Nor can any blame be attached to the men of Moscow. Declarations from London and Washington admitted new and far-reaching obligations. The British Prime Minister did not mince words; he did not equivocate as to the quality or the quantity of the assistance that Britain from then on would endeavor to send to democracy's new ally. Although nearly six months were to elapse before Japan decided to "shoot" the United States into the conflict, the President wasted neither time nor words in assuring the government of the Soviet Union how his country felt in the light of those new developments. Between then and the latest signing of new pacts in the capitals of the Old and New Worlds the manner in which performance had followed promise had prepared the way for what obviously can be regarded as the substitution of mutual trust for an ideological conflict which, after all, had little or no justification.

It is no longer a secret that the Soviet government had refused point blank to reveal much of its military information to Britain and the United States. To be sure, the mission of Sir Stafford Cripps as Britain's ambassador to Moscow had worn down some of the old prejudices that many prominent Russian statesmen had nursed against the "Eng-fish Tories"; and Mr. Davies' book, "Mission to Moscow," had revealed the Socialist state in a more favorable light to the American public than perhaps anything else had previously succeeded in doing. But the correct solvent was still missing. Something obviously had to be done about it. What form it took, what preceded Mr. Molotov's visit to London and Washington, we may discover sooner or later. The fact that a new long-term understanding has been reached under the most propitious auspices is all that matters for the moment.

Moreover, if Mr. Molotov's mission to the British and American capitals achieved nothing more than the essential military and political results the public has been led to believe it has produced, it spells progress of the first magnitude. But if it shall go further, if it shall obliterate from the minds of the skeptics that Toryism in all its sinister forms is dead, that the fear of the spreading of what is euphemistically called Communism is a myth, the new agreements constitute a wholesome promise for the postwar world. Come out of them what may, however, the Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs has now been able to give Premier Stalin the full benefit of his frank discussions, face to face, with the leaders of the two great English-speaking democracies. And if there is one man in whom the Russian chief of state places implicit faith, it is in the judgment and person of Mr. Molotov.

Straight Talk

MR. ELLIOT LITTLE, DIRECTOR OF NATIONAL selective service, who was in Victoria a couple of weeks ago to get first-hand information on our manpower situation, has just delivered to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in Toronto a speech that is attracting wide attention.

Canada is rapidly approaching the point of extreme labor shortage, he said. To manufacturers who felt they could go to their gates any morning and pick a few men to fill vacancies on new jobs, he suggested "that you drop that idea right now." Where then labor? Mr. Little pointed to four sources of labor: workers diverted from peacetime occupations, reclaimed unemployed, utilization of women, absorption of youths out of school. Now with the demand greater than ever before, there was a fifth source of manpower, daily assuming greater importance, and that involved getting the most out of the men and women already employed.

The government may help employers to find workers and in training workers, but it is apparent it cannot regulate the efficiency of plants. "The government can't stop minutes being donated to Hitler," as Mr. Little put it. The way for the employer to step up efficiency was to get employees to "help you run your job." Without improvement in employer-employee relations, maximum in production could not be attained. Mr. Little made it clear he did not put all the blame on the side of management as there were unreasonable elements within labor ranks and labor leaders who seek to make the war a stepping stone for their own gain. Against these, however, was the obscurantism of the intolerant employer who refuses to recognize that conditions have changed.

Mr. Little said: "To those who don't want good relations or don't appreciate their value, I say: The country cannot afford to have you as an employer at any time, particularly in wartime. You must change your ways. Waving a flag in a workman's face and calling on his patriotism cannot be a substitute for decent treatment. You cannot write a memo about it, and accomplish it. It must be an attitude, a frame of mind, a recognition of existing facts and conditions which can be turned to mutual advantage for an employer and employee—and for the country."

"One thing we have noticed is that the firms which are on good terms with their employees haven't come down to Ottawa crying about absenteeism or inability to get men. It is our experience that any company with employer-employee relations can take reasonable regulations in its stride. I never knew so many employers could come galloping to Ottawa as I have seen in recent weeks. What do you expect us to do about it? Do you expect us to stand around with Tommy guns in our hands, or send squad cars to round up your employees every morning?"

"This fifth source of manpower is that intangible, indefinable something that has always made the British people great. It is the will to do. Make your men your teammates, and nothing on God's green earth can stop the people of Canada in a production that will amaze us."

Mr. Little in this speech said some things that needed saying. In the interests of our war effort it is to be hoped that they will not be forgotten by those to whom they were addressed.

Not Wanted

NO DOUBT FORMER KING CAROL would like to take up residence in the United States. But our neighbors are not in the mood to receive discredited monarchs with tattered reputations. They are looking askance at one or two of the "movements" which have as their object the restoration of old frontiers and old "houses." Neither the Rumanian royal house nor the Habsburg dynasty appeals to the average American. Carol will require to remove many obstacles before Washington will issue a permit of admission. He has little chance of succeeding.

While Archduke Otto's "Free Austria" campaign is not hampered by anything more serious than its chief proponent's accident of birth, there is a feeling on both sides of the 49th parallel that the United Nations will not be unduly influenced by the supposedly influential scions of once royal families. This is a people's war; one of the prerequisites of a lasting peace is the establishment of governments that will respond to the people's will—a condition applying to former Axis countries as well as to those now fighting under the United Nations banner. There is no harm in Carol pulling strings, as he is reported to be doing, to cajole Washington. But his room appears to be much more preferable than his company.

Notes

It is the rest of the stuff that comes up that makes our interest grow in our garden.

Some folks like the favorite summer drink, iced tea, with lemon added and the tea omitted.

The private citizen may as well not try to get tires these days, because all the ration board will give him is the air.

Air raid wardens are warning citizens, to remove false teeth during an air raid. Also, don't put them in a pocket and bite your self.

Motorists are advised to guard their gasoline coupon books. Oil Controller Cottrell says the man who loses his book or has it stolen will be unable to buy gasoline until he gets a new book at the end of the current quarter, after obtaining special approval of his application from the nearest regional oil control office and paying $1. There may be stealing of gasoline coupon books, but we don't see why. If the law is being enforced the books are useless to them as the coupons must be detached only by the gasoline vendor and the number on the book must be that of the license number on the purchaser's car.

BUT WHY NOT IN CANADA?

From Financial Post

Why did Leonard Brockington, K.C., have to go to Britain to find use for his particular talents? Why didn't Canada find important wartime work for him here?

Mr. Brockington goes to the British Ministry of Information, where his unique abilities as a speaker and broadcaster will undoubtedly well serve the British people.

But Canada has desperate need of the service Mr. Brockington can give. Here is a man who is definitely tops in interpreting the spiritual issues of the war.

On the industrial front, Canada has achieved much. So far, little has been done on the spiritual front.

Hitler very well knows how to use the weapon of national emotion, both to arm his own people, and to strengthen the blows against us. That's total war. Here's a weapon we haven't yet even started to use.

Brockington was one of the few outstanding Canadians with an obvious flair for this job. "Canada has suffered much in the past and is surely suffering today from the constant export of her talent to other countries. Here was a loss that was patently preventable."

Bruce Hutchison

TO THE AIR

PREMIER KING has taken to the air in his curious one-engine conscription policy. An airplane, as has been remarked here before, is a very useful contrivance—if it works. If not, somebody generally gets hurt. The test of Mr. King's policy, as outlined in his marathon speech, is whether it works.

To judge of its success we must understand what it is designed to do. Well, it is designed primarily to hold this country together. Let there be no mistake about that. Of course, the cynical will say that it is designed only to hold the Liberal Party together. That, of course, it is designed to do; but he would be a poor judge of human nature who supposed that the Prime Minister of this country and his government are only concerned about that. To be concerned only about that, these men would have to be more than human. Being human, their first interest is in winning the war, and not in holding office.

They sincerely believe that if we have a complete racial breach in Canada it will not only damage our country irreparably for the future, but will damage irreparably our war effort now. This is a sound expectation. Should we break with Quebec a large part of our energy, not only our military effort but our economic effort as well, since large parts of our industry are concentrated in French-Canada and a large part of our labor comes from there.

THE TEST

THUS it is worth going a long way to prevent such a breach, even if we lose a good deal of dignity and a good deal of inspiration in so doing. But Mr. King's policy can be defended only if it succeeds in preventing the breach. If it fails to prevent the breach and at the same time wears out the patience and the morale of English-speaking Canada then the policy is a failure and a disaster. Likewise, it is a failure and a disaster if it means that the whole energy of this nation cannot be mobilized for the war.

We cannot be sure about either of these things yet. We do not know in the first place whether we have prevented a breach with Quebec, whether national unity will endure the strains of the war. On this point, of course, it is necessary to use some common sense. We must not be misled by the manoeuvres of politics. In the House of Commons we may expect to see Mr. King lose the support of most of his Quebec followers in the vote on Section Three, but this in itself does not mean a fatal breach. Those members may be back in the wide, commodious bosom of the Liberal Party before the next nightfall and they may be able to bring their people with them. The thing to watch rather is the temper of the French-Canadian people and their attitude towards us.

NOT YET

ON THE SECOND POINT the answer likewise is not yet clear. Under the restricted policy of conscription can Mr. King give us a total war effort—that is, the maximum effort. Perhaps he couldn't have done it yet. Perhaps it was impossible to organize any faster the enormous and complex forces that go into modern production, into agriculture, into the mines, forests and fisheries. But the time is growing late and Mr. King must know that he cannot afford to waste an hour. He must organize our manpower better, he must exert increasing economic controls, he must push us around as we have never been pushed before in our lives.

That is the true test of total war—not whether we conscript men for overseas service or recruit them voluntarily, but whether we use our manpower in the best place, on the military and the economic front. The government should be judged by the overall result and so far, while it has been enormous, it has not been a maximum.

Mr. King says that overseas conscription is not necessary. There, again, it is a relative, not an absolute question. Conscription certainly is not necessary at the moment to get plenty of men for the fighting services since volunteers are numerous. But conscription certainly is necessary to get recruits fairly and scientifically, to spread the load in the most equitable fashion. In principle there is no defence for Mr. King's policy, but we do not live, unfortunately, in a sealed vacuum of pure civic virtue. We live in a crazy world and in an exceedingly difficult nation. The defence of Mr. King's policy is thus one of pure practicality, not principle. The defence is that the other course would be worse for the war effort by making more trouble internally than it was worth.

At a time when one is bound to say what one thinks, I must say I would support Mr. King for the moment in this policy until it is seen whether he can fulfill the two requirements—unity of our two races and the maximum use of our resources. If he cannot, the policy fails and Mr. King should resign. But I doubt that he will consult me about it.

The wise man saves for the rainy day and the tax department sees that he gets rain day and night.

War Forcing Christendom To Co-ordinate, or Lose All

Great and wonderful tidings went out last week from London to our divided Christendom. They were tidings, described by The Toronto Star as more thrilling and uplifting than any that had been published abroad since the pristine unity of Christendom was lost.

It was an announcement made by the Rt. Rev. Geoffrey Fisher, Bishop of London, that a joint committee of two societies, one representing at once the established Church of England and the Free Churches, and the other representing a recognized Roman Catholic organization, "The Sword of the Spirit," had agreed to seek "the co-ordination of the work of the churches in the 'area' of common ground without raising the ultimate questions of church order and doctrines which divide us."

There is no doubt that Catholics and Protestants have both been stirred during recent years by a sincere sorrow and shame over the barriers that separate us.

DIVIDED CHRISTENDOM

Even within Protestantism we are aware that many Baptists do not feel free to invite to the table of the Lord Christians who, they believe, have not been baptized in what they hold is the way as originally commanded, and that the largest and oldest of Protestant churches feel compelled to exercise the same discrimination in regard to those not episcopally confirmed, and even in some of its membership to deny that any true sacrament can be administered except by a clergyman, whose ordination has brought him into the mysterious and intangible Apostolic succession. Furthermore we are aware that by what might almost seem poetic justice all varieties of this divided Protestantism are lumped together as non-Christians by the greatest and second oldest of churches, the church known as Roman and Catholic.

FENCE BETWEEN

The consciousness of such a divided condition, with the estrangements, jealousies, rivalries and animosities that such dividedness always tends to produce, has led to various attempts to find a way out. There has been a good deal of reintegration of churches that had been split, then a few cases of churches coming together which had never been united (of which the most noticeable is the union of the Congregationalist, the Methodist and the Presbyterian Church of Canada), but until this present hour Protestants of all sorts and Roman Catholics, however warm their hearts might be to one another, could only shake hands and have a friendly talk over a fence.

All of us could give a terrible catalogue of the many diabolically destructive and cruel things the present war has wrought. From now on it may be we are going to realize what holy and blessed and heavenly things are going to come out of it. All the world knows the new friendliness and solidarity that has grown up under the bombing and bloodshed and misery of Britain's months of hell. A similar ordeal has awoken a similar lovely spirit in Poland and Czechoslovakia.

PECULIAR DOCTRINES

And now in England which, by God's grace, has beaten off the oppressor, has been born what promises to be a more fruitful effort to bridge the greatest of all religious chasms, than has appeared since the days of the Crusades.

16 Targets for R.A.F.—Which Will Be Next?

Which Nazi city next will feel the destructive might of the R.A.F.? . . . Munich, Dusseldorf, Stuttgart? Maybe Hamburg? Cologne, the fourth largest German city and Essen, which is the sixth in population, already have been blitzed and battered. Much of Lubeck, much of Rostock is rubble. Will the R.A.F. continue its offensive against other Ruhr valley industrial cities or concentrate on other targets?

Said Prime Minister Churchill: "As the year advances all German cities, harbors and centres of war production will be subjected to an ordeal the like of which never has been experienced by any country in continuity, severity or magnitude."

Below is a list of all German cities of more than 100,000 population. In addition, because of their military importance, there are a few with less than 100,000. In the third column is the approximate distance from London to each city, giving some idea of the task the R.A.F. sets itself when a mass raid is planned.

A MATTER OF HISTORY

From Ottawa Journal

Sixteen years ago the Locarno Treaty was signed in London. The ceremony took place in a magnificent Foreign Office apartment where leading statesmen of France, Germany, Italy and other European nations congratulated our Foreign Secretary on labors successfully pursued and rewarded by his Sovereign's bestowal of the Order of the Garter. Sir Austen Chamberlain, the minister in question, made a graceful oration in French, acclaiming a new era of peace and good will on earth, and the international delegates signed the treaty with a golden pen specially provided for the historic occasion. M. Briand was France's representative, Herr Stresemann was Germany's.

Everybody commented on the fact that Stresemann was one of the "good" Germans. It has since been revealed that he was all the time secretly preparing the way for Hitler. At the convivial lunch that followed the signing, Stresemann gently put it to his neighbor, Briand, did he really believe that Germany was the aggressor in 1914. "Your Excellency," replied Briand, toying with his glass, "I find it hard to believe that Belgium invaded Germany!"

CANADA'S CHOICE

From Cleveland Press

Many Canadians are said to be worrying lest the close economic ties welded by the war may lead, eventually, to annexation of the Dominion by the United States.

We believe we speak for the overwhelming majority of Americans in suggesting that if ever Canada is joined to the United States, it will be by free choice of the Dominion's people. On such a basis, probably most United States Americans would welcome Canadian Americans into a homogeneous North American nation. We like them, we admire and respect them. We go no further.

HOT STUFF

From New York World-Telegram
From somewhere in Australia comes word that our soldiers there have coined a new catchphrase—"Hot stuff coming!"—which means something like "Make way. Let me through."

We hate to look down a long nose on the youngsters who now cover the fighting fronts. In the interest of historical accuracy, however, it should be noted that "Hot stuff coming through"—identical in purport with the current phrase—was as common in World War 1 as "okay" is today. It meant anything from "Move over and give me room in that crap game" to "Hiya, Togs!"

STANDARD OIL'S RUBBER PROCESS

From San Francisco News

The charges made by the Department of Justice against Standard Oil of New Jersey, in connection with its process for the making of butyl rubber, should be explored thoroughly and publicly.

In general we have felt that Thurman Arnold has used the war as a club with which to labor industrialists whose offenses were civil rather than military. The specifications against Standard of New Jersey, however, go further. There Robert Hunter, assistant to the Attorney-General, says flatly that after making its butyl process available to Germany in 1938, the company hid that secret from our own government after Pearl Harbor, although by its synthetic rubber could be made for one-third the present cost of the natural product.

The charge is very serious. The company's answer is a flat, if polite, "you lie." The public is entitled to know more.

For the year ending Dec. 31, 1941, a total of 6,415,447 articles were shipped from the national Red Cross and in 1940, 5,439,491 articles were shipped, making a total of 11,854,938. In 1940 British Columbia took the third highest place for number of articles shipped, being exceeded by Ontario and Quebec divisions, and in 1941 this record was again maintained as follows: B.C. shipped the largest amount of comforts for women's auxiliary services, civilian clothing for men 16 and over; the second largest amount of civilian clothing for infants and children up to two years; for women 16 and over, for boys 2 to 14, and the third largest amount of hospital supplies, comforts for the forces, civilian clothing for girls 2 to 14 and miscellaneous civilian comforts.

Women Must Take Over Men's Work, Says Mrs. Eaton

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Women—and particularly young women—must be prepared to undertake lighter forms of work ordinarily performed by men, Mrs. Rex Eaton, director of the women's division of National Selective Service, said in an address today at a conference of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Ontario.

Present needs had been met by women who needed work, but the women of Canada had indicated that when the time came for the direction of women into war industries they would be ready.

"The lighter work ordinarily undertaken by men must be assumed by women, and in larger part by younger women," Mrs. Eaton said.

Women would pay the price of fatigue, loneliness, boredom and inconvenience for their contribution to the war effort and in some cases homes would be upset.

"I believe that you will agree with me that the last group who should be held responsible for war production is made up of mothers of younger children," Mrs. Eaton continued. "It is a sad day for a nation if a further demand for public service is put upon the mothers of younger children."

The price women would have to pay should be no higher than essential. Protection should be provided through regulation of hours and conditions of work, and proper housing and recreational facilities should be available. These conditions were necessary on the ground of sound labor and production policy, as well as being a moral responsibility.

land, Oregon, May 29. On their arrival the bride and the groom's mother, Mrs. H. Sloan, were presented with corsage bouquets of rosebuds and carnations, after which an occasional chair, the joint gift of the assembled guests, was presented to the honored guest. An enjoyable evening was spent playing games and tea was served from a table covered with a lace cloth and centred with a silver bowl of roses with an ice cream cake holding the place of honor. Among the guests were Mesdames D. McMillan, J. Tweedie, J. Millar, Henderson, R. Hall, T. Young, Hunt, G. Baird, W. Boyd, Borrowman, Lawson, Templeton, M. Ashton, H. Noble, W. Sloan, H. Sloan, J. Sloan, J. McConnell, Eldridge and the Misses Nettie and Isabel Millar, Eva Young, Dola Masters, Valentine Sloan and Christine Boyd.

In compliment to Miss Patricia Pennock, popular bride-elect, Miss Barbara Kennedy entertained at the tea hour Saturday at her home, Foul Bay Road. Summer flowers made an attractive setting in the drawing room and in the centre of the prettily-appointed tea table was an amber bowl of white carnations. J. E. Moore and Mrs. P. H. Brown poured tea and Miss Bunny MacDonald assisted. Other invited guests were Mesdames T. A. Stevenson, Lionel Huxtable, R. B. McCullough, A. Pitkeathley, A. C. Later the many lovely gifts were presented in an oval hatbox decorated in white crepe paper frills, topped with a miniature bride who wore a wreath of syringa blossom and carried a Colonial bouquet of real rosebuds. Mrs. D. G. Pennock presided at the tea-table, which was centred with a flat bowl of syringa, similar blossoms decking the base of the star-shaped candleholders in which were lighted white tapers. LEECH-ORCHIN Standards of mauve rhododendrons, daisies and white carnations made a lovely setting for the wedding Friday evening at Victoria West United Church of Miss Dorothy Irene Hudson, elder daughter of Mrs. E. Orchin, 918 Russell Street, and the late Mr. R. R. Hudson, and Sgt. Wireless Airgunner Francis James Leech, R.C.A.F., elder son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Leech, 315 Qu'Appelle Street, Rev. J. C. Jackson officiated and the double-ring ceremony was used.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her stepfather, wore a graceful gown of white silk jersey with a train and long-pointed sleeves. A cluster of gardenias held her filmy veil in place and she carried a white prayer-book with streamers showered with sweetheart roses attached to an Ophelia rose at the top. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, the gift of the groom. Mrs. Jack Caldwell was matron of honor, wearing a frock of aquamarine net over taffeta and a matching halo of taffeta trimmed with peach ruching, and carried a colonial bouquet of peach carnations. The junior bridesmaid was her sister, Kathleen Orchin, in a pink taffeta frock trimmed with blue, who wore sprays of pink and blue velvet flowers in her hair and carried a posy of pink carnations. The other bridesmaids were her cousins, Miss Ethel Stickney of Vancouver, in a long sleeved frock of pale blue chiffon and a pink chapel-veil caught to her head with pink carnations; Miss Lorraine Stickney, also of Vancouver, in pink chiffon with contrasting accessories, and Miss Muriel Leech, sister of the bridegroom, who was also dressed in pink chiffon with a blue veil and pink carnations. All three carried muffs in the alternate color with carnations across the front.

Mr. Laurence Orchin, brother of the bride, supported the groom, and the ushers were Mr. William Leech, brother of the groom, and Mr. Bruce Ramsay. Mr. Oliver Stout was at the organ, and the vocal soloist was Pte. Len Mawie, who sang "Because."

Pink and white streamers and blooms decorated the Skinner Street Hall for the reception which followed the ceremony, the couple receiving beneath an archway of fern and overhanging bell. Pink tapers in silver holders and vases of carnations adorned the supper table which was centred with the cake. Mrs. Orchin wore a dusty rose redingote ensemble with black accessories, and Mrs. Leech was in blue with beige accessories, and gardenias and rosebuds composed their corsage bouquets.

After the traditional toasts, proposed by the bride's grandfather, Mr. Frank Mansfield, the couple left for a short honeymoon in Vancouver, the bride changing to a blue dress with touches of pink and a light beige fur-trimmed coat.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Young and Miss Edna Young of Ladysmith, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hudson of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Ethel Goss of Vancouver.

After the meeting of Job's Daughters, Bethel No. 2, at which the Masons were the honored guests, a combined birthday party and fathers' day celebration took place. During the social a delightful time was had when the fathers versus the daughters, told the truth or paid the consequences. Following this, the daughters escorted their fathers into the dining hall, where a tempting banquet was served at tables decorated with the Bethel colors, purple and white. After a toast to the Bethel, a majority of the Masons expressed their appreciation and many promised to attend the next meeting, June 25, at which time the officers will be installed. On the previous Monday the girls were the guests of Victoria Chapter, O.E.S., when they exemplified the majority degree with the Misses Dorothy Adams, Isabelle Bull and Margaret Hiqubran being the candidates.

Music Teachers Give Concert

Miss Ethel James, president, welcomed the many friends and parents of the students at the last in the series of joint pupils' concerts sponsored by the Victoria Music Teachers' Association held Friday evening at the Victoria Frith Centre. About nine studios were represented in the varied program of piano, violin and vocal numbers.

Taking part in the program were the following pupils: piano solos—Billy Gaetz, Pat Thomas, Norie Edel, Joan Mitchell, Bobby Reeves, Nancy Carmichael, Shirley Smith, Willard Gerber, Ann Robertson, Betty McNiven, Dorothy McNiven, Mary Hummel, Marian Gibbs, Shirley Cameron, Beverly Luff, Shirley Pauline, Sheila Beckwith, Joan Creighton, Joyce Hemmley and Lorraine Cornish. Violin solos—Betty Bryson, Patricia Straughan, Allan Tregear. Vocal solos—Joyce Thompson.

Accompanists were Miss Ethel James, Miss Phyllis Hick and Miss Helen McRae. The association expressed gratitude to Miss Florence Phillimore and Miss Marion Roberts, who have been in charge of all the pupils' monthly recitals given during the past teaching year.

Forum Sponsors Victory Gardens

The Liberal Women's Forum held its last meeting of the season Friday afternoon with Mrs. F. J. Mitchell, president, in the chair. Mrs. Hugh MacKenzie outlined the aims and objects of the Victory Garden committee which is stimulating interest in gardens this year and planning community gardens for next year's work. The committee has the support of leading citizens and organizations and does not intend to compete in any way with commercial producers but simply encourage individuals to grow their own root crops and greens. Showing why this is necessary is the fact that Vancouver Island produces only 25 per cent of the potatoes it consumes; and this year's crop may be as low as 15 per cent.

Mr. Harold Beckwith spoke briefly about land tenure and the rights of the Crown to expropriate in times of emergency; contrasting this with the procedure in ordinary times when privately-owned property may be needed.

The president thanked both speakers warmly for their timely and informative talks.

The Forum's war fund is growing satisfactorily and plans were made for a full bazaar. In line with present conditions it was unanimously decided to dispense with afternoon tea for the duration.

Mrs. J. Ratcliffe sang "Morning" and "Flow Gently Sweet Afton" accompanied by Mrs. Wilmshurst. Tea was served by ladies of ward four under co-sponsorship of Mrs. T. C. Smith from a table centred with roses, snapdragon and maidenhair fern. Presiding at the urns were Mrs. John Hart and Mrs. Rod MacKenzie.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT

JOHNS-MANVILLE

Mysterious Stains Simply Explained

The other morning, after an all-night rain, one local householder opened his eyes—then sat up in bed with a start! Right overhead, a wide, ugly stain stretched across the ceiling. Over in the corner another damp, glistening discoloration ran from top to the bottom of the wall. Well, after the first sudden shock, it didn't take our householder long to figure out that his roof was leaking. If a leaking roof is taking toll of your walls and ceilings, too, here's a tip... Johns-Manville dealers are experts on "fixing up" roofs—benefitting by J.M.'s own 34 years of roofing experience. Whether it's a simple $1.00 repair job or a complete new roof of beautiful, inexpensive, longer-lasting Johns-Manville Asphalt Shingles, you can depend on them for satisfaction—and savings! For free estimate and a fascinating free folder, phone your J.M. dealer, V. I. Hardwood Floor Company, 707 Johnson Street, Garden 7314.

Style, Craft Show Supplements Funds For Red Cross

Red Cross funds benefited to the extent of $15 by the annual dress display and exhibition of work at Oak Bay home economics and technical school Friday afternoon, when a large audience was present to applaud the parade of wartime styles staged by girls of Grades 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11 of Oak Bay High, Monterey and Willows schools.

The dresses, made by the girls themselves under the direction of their instructress, Miss C. Virstuk, were supplemented by hats, all made by the wearers, and demonstrating not only skillful needlework but an appreciation of good line and smartness.

Anne Reynolds acted as narrator during the parade. An exhibition of applied art made under the direction of Mr. Will Menelaus attracted much attention. Boys of grades corresponding to the girls' grades had on display a fine exhibition of metalwork, woodwork, electrical work, and draughting, much of this demonstrating finished precision. It was explained that this type of work had been adapted to the development of skill in the handling of various types of material and tools and should prove of great value in connection with the war effort.

In introducing the girls' instructress, Miss Virstuk, and the boys' instructor, Mr. S. Maddock, the supervising principal paid tribute to the excellent results obtained by both these members of the staff.

Refreshments were served from attractively decorated table by groups of girls from each school.

Proceeds from the style show and work display brought the total amount donated during the week to the Red Cross to $648.

British Labor M.P. Dies

LONDON (CP)—George Lathan, 66, M.P. for the Park division of Sheffield and treasurer of the Labor Party, died Sunday after an illness of several weeks. He recently underwent an operation.

The death brings to seven the total number of by-elections pending.

Mr. Lathan was a member of the national executive committee of the Labor Party, and from 1923 until 1937 served on the advisory committee of the International Labor Office at Geneva.

England, at one time, indirectly taxed the air and sunlight entering the houses of its people. The tax was levied on windows, and many persons bricked them up to avoid paying.

By PETE SALLAWAY

CHATTING to Ted Menzies, corpulent boss of the James Bay lacrosse club, he held forth on the plans of the Victoria league to enter an all-star club for the Mann Cup series to determine the Canadian champions. Filling of the local entry must be made before August 15. "We have the material here alright but the powers that be should get the team selected right away and arrange for some exhibition games to work it in shape," Menzies declared.

"You can't expect to throw together a team of all-stars and then expect them to play sound lacrosse. They need practice and the best way to give it to them would be to bring in teams from the mainland for exhibition games. These battles would attract good crowds and the financial gamble would be small."

In an effort to start the ball rolling Menzies then gave us an all-star team he had selected. It follows: Goalies, Bill Andrews, Jokers and Buzz Long, James Bay; defencemen, Marty Turnquist, Oaklands, Tom McKeachie, Bays, Ken Fetherstone, Services and Austin Cullin, Bays; forwards, Daryl Popham, Oaklands, Fred Ranson, Oaklands, Gibb Stevens, Douglas Tire, Eric Lea, Oaklands, Bill McCaghey, Oaklands, Art Mayo, Services, Earl McDonald, Services, Jackie James, Services, Arnold Ferguson, Bays, Sid Anderson, Bays, Andy Ovechark, Douglas Tire and Bobby Barr, Douglas Tire. "I know this team will not meet with the approval of many, but it is at least a start and I hope the other lacrosse managers will get busy and work on the selection of all-star line-ups."

Results of another Esquire sports poll are to hand and consistent with the votes for war-time continuance of sports in previous balloting 69.9 per cent of the people feel that the United States open and amateur golf championships should not have been called off this year. However, amateur golfers ran contrary to the common trend by voting 67.78 per cent in favor of the ruling that canceled the tournaments.

All the way down the line of this all-golf poll there was considerable divergence of opinion, and considerable balloting by various blocs, which included in addition to the public, such interested groups as the sports editors, radio announcers, amateur and pro golfers. For example match play came out ahead of medal play as a test of individual skill in 50.97 per cent of the ballots, although the blocs of amateur and pro golfers went for medal play by percentages of 68.54 and 84.68 respectively. Paul Runyan said medal play was "the best test of skill, though match play may be the best test of competitive disposition."

The most important single factor in developing a good golf swing is practice, according to 21.26 per cent of the voters. The pro rated correct grip first. Chick Evans said the most important thing is, "Doing the best you can on each swing." Horton Smith said "Understanding the ideal pattern of the swing."

A wide variety of answers came in on the question detailing the start of the golf swing. The highest total of 24.08 per cent favored the theory of "just swinging freely without thinking of anything in particular." George Sargent of Atlanta said: "The starting muscles are those of the right knee, which if smartly pressed directly backwards automatically start the left hip in motion." Olin Dutra said, "The backswing is initiated by a turn of the hips to the right in coordination with the swing and control of the club through the left arm."

Bill Andrews Hurt

Oaks Trim Jokers

The sweethearts of the Greater Victoria Box Lacrosse League, Oaklands, are bearing out the prediction of all those who say they are the team to beat in this season's competition. Before 600 people, Saturday night, the speedy and young red sweatered crew, without much ado, added Jokers to their latest list of victims, polishing them off 21 to 10.

This win, their third in a row, puts them in a second place tie with the team they licked, but still leaves them plenty of traveling space before they catch up with the league leading Bays.

The game was a case of Oaklands getting an undreamed of break and taking advantage of it. What changed a close first half game into a second half rout was a serious knee injury sustained by the backbone of the whole Joker team, goalie Bill Andrews. With five minutes to go in the second half, Oaks' shifty wingman, Duff McCaghey, was battering his way goalward. As he stumbled to his cresseline he blasted the shot past Andrews' feet, and Bill, all 200 and more pounds of him, came crashing to his knees to make the save. He had to be carried to the dressing room, his attempted save twisting and tearing a cartilage in his left knee.

Young Jack Leeming, goalie for the junior Joker outfit, finished the period in Andrews' place. Oaklands managed to blast two shots past him, to break a tie and leave the score at 9 to 7 at the half.

His knee taped and bandaged, Andrews limped on the floor for the third quarter, but it wasn't the same Bill in goal. Oaklands, controlling the play the whole period, put seven shots past him while holding the disheartened Jokers to a single goal.

Bill left the game at the end of that canto, and Leeming finished it out. The kid played a great game and made 11 stops in the final 15 minutes, letting five go by. Jokers, by this time pretty thoroughly disorganized, only managed to get through for two markers.

Running and passing the ball the whole distance, Bob McInnes' boys split their scoring evenly. Alan Rhodes, Eric Lea, Wally Williams and Fred Ranson, with three goals apiece, paced the team. McCaghey played a smart game the whole way and got five assists with his two goals.

Ray Douglas, brought up from junior company this year, was again high man for the losers. Shifty and strictly an opportunist, he fired home four goals. Freddy Pellow, another graduated junior, trailed him with a pair.

Jimmy Taylor played a steady game in the Oaklands' nets, turning aside 30 shots. Between them, Andrews and Leeming stopped 40. Bill blocked 25 and Jack 15.

Teams and scores follow: Oaklands-Taylor, Turnquist 1; Watson 1, Rhodes 3, Michelin, Lea 3, Popham, McCaghey 2, Williams 3, Ranson 3, Bishop 2, Lott 1, Penketh 2, Prior.

Jokers—Andrews, Leeming, Smith, Pellow 2, Stewart, Hetherington 1, Calverly 1, Carter, Bruce, Douglas 4, Utke, McKeachie 1, Kamal 1, Scott.

Brynolfson and Brown refereed.

Brookman Scores

Several weeks ago Art Brookman's speedsters trimmed the Y.M.C.A. squad, but Saturday afternoon the "Y" boys evened the score. The "Y" vs. Navy meet was held at the naval barracks.

Both teams were short handed and found it difficult to field two entries in each event. Art Brookman was the individual star of the meet with three first places in the high jump, broad jump and the 220-yard dash. Al Macfarlane won the half and the mile in fine style while Ronnie Dalziel surprised the spectators by passing Brookman to win the 100-yard dash.

This was just a warm-up meet for the big police track meet in Vancouver July 1 in which both teams hope to participate.

Results follow: 100-yard dash—1. Don Dalziel, "Y." 2. A. Brookman, Navy; 3. R. Register, Navy. Half-mile—1. Alan Macfarlane, "Y." 2. A. McKinnon, "Y." 3. B. Brady, Navy. Time, 24 seconds. 220-yard dash—1. Brookman; 2. Dalziel; 3. Register. Time, 34 seconds. One mile—1. Macfarlane; 2. Brady; 3. McKinnon. Time, 5:40. Broad jump—1. Brookman; 2. Ivel Dalziel, "Y." 3. Jim McKellar, "Y." Distance, 19 feet 11 inches. High jump—1. Brookman; 2. Ivel Dalziel; 3. R. Orver, Navy. Height, 5 feet 5 inches.

His Hitting Streak Ended

New York Yankee ace, second baseman Joe Gordon, who had batted safely for 29 consecutive games, the longest hitting streak of the 1942 season, had it snapped by St. Louis Browns, Sunday. During this streak his average soared to .395. Against Browns he failed to hit in four times at bat. The shots above show how Gordon excels in all departments of the game.

Ruffing Wins 251st Listed With Gotham's Greatest

Besides the name of Joe (Iron Man) McGinnity on the list of Gotham's greatest pitchers they wrote another one today—Charles Herbert Ruffing of the world champion New York Yankees.

Charley the red, winner of more games than any hurler active in the major leagues, chalked up the 251st victory on his 19-year record Sunday to tie the mark left by McGinnity, who often pitched, and sometimes won, doubleheaders for the New York Giants in the early years of John McGraw.

Only three pitchers in all the baseball history of the nation's largest city have topped the total reached by Ruffing.

In 10 games this year, Ruffing has pitched 83 innings and has gone the distance seven times. He has yielded 69 hits, while striking out 39 batters and issuing only 16 bases on balls.

Sunday he tossed a five-hitter at St. Louis Browns, the team that had beaten him twice before in his only reversals for 1942. He pitched the Yankees to a 6-1 victory in the first game and Ernie Bonham finished with a 5-4 win in the second.

But while Ruffing was adding to his achievements with his seventh win and Bonham was turning in his ninth against only one defeat, another Yankee came to the end of the longest batting streak of 1942.

Joe Gordon, whose single in the opener stretched his string to 29 consecutive games, went zero-for-four against John Niggeling, who held the Yanks to seven hits in the afterpiece and watched his mates commit three errors which helped the champions score three runs.

At that, the Yanks failed to increase their nine-and-a-half-game lead in the American League for the second-place Boston Red Sox took a pair of close ones from Detroit, 3 to 2 in the regulation distance and 2 to 1 in 11 innings.

Tony Lupien, Harvard's gift to the Red Sox and first base successor to Jimmy Foss, drove in both winning runs, with a double

Whirlaway Crowded

NEW YORK (AP)—Whirlaway was beaten Saturday simply because they didn't give him enough room to run.

Warren Wright's ace took a crack at the cramped seven furlongs of the 42nd Carter Handicap at Aqueduct—far short of his usual route—and although he closed 20 lengths and was fairly flying at the finish, he wound up only third to Doubirab, owned by Mrs. Tilyou Christopher of Miami.

There was hardly any doubt among the 25,289 fans that he would have won in another 15 or 20 yards, so fast was he moving at the finish.

Doubirab, four-year-old son of Sherab, equaled the track record of 1:23 on footing rated only "good" in chalking up his third straight stake victory in as many weeks and on as many tracks. At the finish, with Billy Thompson getting all he could out of the grey sprinter, the colt was a head in front of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Swing and Sway, with Whirlaway another length farther back. W. L. Brann's Pictor was fourth.

At the last minute, Whirlaway's looked for duel with Lou Tufano's Market Wise, his conqueror in the recent Suburban Handicap, was wiped out when Market Wise was scratched because of illness.

A $19.40-for-$2 shot in the mutuels, Doubirab picked up

$7,250 for his day's pay. Whirlaway's third-place pay cheque was $750, boosting his bankroll to $378,561 in second place on the all-time money-winning list.

Boeing's Beat V.M.D. To Win Province Cup

Score 4-3 Overtime Victory

VANCOUVER (CP)—Victoria Machinery Depot found themselves up against tough opposition here Saturday and by the margin of a last-minute goal saw Boeing's of Vancouver annex the Province soccer cup. The overtime score was 4 to 3.

Boeing's dominated play with hard kicking and fast following up but Victoria had the game well under control in the early minutes of the second half when they scored three goals in quick succession to tie the score.

Hero of the game as far as Vancouver was concerned was Johnny Robinson, Boeing's left winger, who with a bare minute of overtime remaining twisted and flashed through the V.M.D. defence to rifle a fast, low shot past goalie Don Woodbridge.

For the first 20 minutes of the game play ranged evenly from end to end, with Victoria narrowly missing a couple of goals. Then Woodbridge hesitated in a run-out toward the ball and Frank Amber got there first to boot it past him for the first goal. Amber scored again a few minutes later to complete a fine passing play.

Woodbridge from now until half-time was submitted to almost continual bombardment, but staved off the attacks. The Victoria squad started the second half strong, gave away another goal to Jim Muir's spot kick and then blasted three counters themselves to even things up.

Doug Todd headed the first V.M.D. goal after receiving a pass from Trev Harvey. Four minutes later the latter sank a 30-yard shot and a minute later Alvin Parks completed a fine passing move with a smashing cross shot for a goal to tie the score.

Little Mangrum Win Inverness

TOLEDO (AP)—Lawson Little and Lloyd Mangrum walked away with the eighth annual $7,650 Inverness four-ball matches Sunday. They piled up a plus 14 count, greatest total in the invitational's history, to beat out Henry Picard and Sam Byrd, who finished second with plus 8.

In addition to the $2,150 first prize, Little and Mangrum pocketed $83.33 as their share of the $250 prize for the low best-ball score, which was deadlocked three ways at 62, and another $125 as half of the prize for the most birdies on the 126-hole jaunt. They had 42.

The runner-up duo crashed through to a nine-up victory over Jimmy Hines and Herman Barron in the final—the most one-sided match the event has ever seen—to leap from fifth place to the $1,383.33 second spot. Jimmy Demaret and Ben Hogan were third and won $700.

Don't be the missing man.

Thompson Wins Matson Trophy

S. J. Thompson, Uplands, trudged over his rain-soaked home course Sunday to card a net 132 and win the J. M. Matson Memorial trophy and miniature in the annual Vancouver Island amateur handicap golf competition.

His clubmate, J. Barlow, with a net 135, was runner-up in the 36-hole medal play on full handicap. C. K. Verley, Victoria, won the low gross honors with 152, while the low net for the first 18 holes went to R. A. Phillips, Uplands, who posted a 66, and for the second 18 to R. Stranix, also of Uplands, with 65.

C. W. Bird, Nanaimo, turned in a card of 139 for the best net for an out-of-town golfer over the full 36 holes.

Despite the rain 54 golfers opened the competition, but some hit for the clubhouse as the continuous downpour ran up scores and quenched ambition.

Seven clubs, Ardmore, Colwood, Cowichan, Nanaimo, Gorge Vale, Victoria and Uplands were represented.

Maj. Connie Smythe, manager of Toronto Maple Leafs until he joined the army over a year ago, was in Victoria over the week-end but kept his visit a secret.

He checked into the Empress Hotel Saturday noon and left for Vancouver Sunday afternoon.

Don't be the missing man.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR CLOTHES LAST LONGER . . .

The government needs wool for our fighting men. It is our patriotic duty to conserve . . . take care of our clothes . . . prolong their usefulness. W. & J. WILSON suggest the following six ways to make your clothes last longer:

DON'T TORTURE a suit by hanging its four pounds weight on sharp nails, hooks or chair posts. Wool has a natural "spring" which pulls back into shape when given a chance. Don't use thin wire hangers which break down the shoulders. Hang trousers with a clamp on the bottoms, so their own weight can pull out the bagginess. Hang both coat and trousers as you take them off . . . empty all pockets . . . leave no weight pulling your suit out of shape.

DON'T WEAR THE SAME SUIT DAY AFTER DAY. You stretch knees and elbows beyond recovery. Alternate with another suit, and both will look better and last longer.

INSIST ON THOROUGH CLEANING. Too cheap cleaning is money wasted, and may merely spread dirt into the cloth, causing "shine" and discoloration. Good cleaning removes perspiration, which injures and discolors wool fibre.

REMOVE SPOTS IMMEDIATELY. The longer they work into the cloth and dry, the more difficult they are to remove at the cleaners. Use warm water on spots from sugar, syrup, ginger ale, etc. . . use good cleaning fluid on others.

BRUSH FREQUENTLY. In this way dust, dandruff, etc., is easily removed and prevented from injuring fabric.

KEEP SUIT PRESSED. This helps to keep its shape and makes it look well longer.

John Sutton, Rita Hayworth and Victor Mature (right), in 20th Century-Fox's new technicolor musical, "My Gal Sal," now at the Capitol Theatre.

COMEDY SHOWING ON CAPITOL SCREEN

The best way to break into comedy roles in the movies is by way of the burlesque stage Phil Silvers believes.

Silvers was knocking himself out on the "strip" circuits for years before he got the nod from Hollywood. But now that he has arrived, he intends to make good in his screen career. Silvers has many famous colleagues who came up out of burlesque, and he is mighty proud of such people as Eddie Cantor, W. C. Fields, Abbott and Costello, and a host of others who got their starts in burlesque swatting each other over the head with baseball bats.

Silvers is featured in 20th Century-Fox's Technicolor musical, "My Gal Sal," which is at the Capitol Theatre. Rita Hayworth, Victor Mature, John Sutton and Carole Landis are starred in the feature.

ACTION THRILLER SHOWING AT YORK

Clark Gable continues his adventurous career on the screen in "They Met in Bombay," which opens today at the York Theatre. With Rosalind Russell as his costar and the exotic Orient as his modern locale, Gable essays a new role, that of an international confidence man.

Lusty with action and amply endowed with romantic color, "They Met in Bombay" offers Gable the kind of red-blooded material which is his particular prize. He is given ample elbow room, for the role dictates that he characterize a man cashiered out of his army officers' berth because of his yen for devilry and shunted to a life of exciting crime because it offers some balm for what otherwise might have been a comparatively complacent existence.

structure has been built is part of the adjoining lot which belongs to one Judy Goobar, a hillbilly girl. If Judy learns this, she can sue United for millions.

Montgomery is mortally afraid of his sister, Matilda, who is the domineering, ill-tempered president of the radio company, and he decides to say nothing to her about the unfortunate discovery. Instead, he and his equally "screwball" son, Junior, go to the hill country to talk Judy into selling her property to them before she can learn the truth.

"Puddin' Head" is the title of this hilarious show, which stars Judy Canova and Francis Lederer with a strong supporting cast including Slim Summerville and Eddie Foy Jr. It is showing at the Rio Theatre.

New Acting Team In Atlas Picture

A brilliant new acting team looms on the cinema horizon in the persons of Robert Taylor and Lana Turner, making their first appearance together in M-G-M's powerful drama of a gangster's career, "Johnny Eager," which opened today at the Atlas Theatre.

The story gives Taylor the greatest dramatic opportunity of his career as Johnny Eager, ruthless killer who knows no code except the rule of self-preservation. Not until he has pinned a trumped-up murder on the only girl who has been able to reach beneath his cold-blooded exterior and find out what makes his heart work, does he make a momentary concession to the laws of human understanding—and then it is too late.

Lana Turner, as the girl, fascinated by the ruthlessness of the gangster, refusing to believe her love cannot redeem him, surpasses anything she has done before.

California Church Has Welsh Singers

California scored another victory in providing everything the movies might need. After 20th Century-Fox had scoured the Eastern United States and Canada in search of Welsh choral singers for Richard Llewellyn's "How Green Was My Valley," the new attraction today at the Cadet Theatre, which was produced by Darryl F. Zanuck, they found their choir in their own "back yard."

Talent scouts had reported the merits of various Welsh singing groups in different parts of North America when the studio

Dominion to Show 'True to the Army'

What the advance reports declare to be the snappiest laugh picture about an army camp since "Caught in the Draft," is headed this way. It is Paramount's "True to the Army" and it is due to arrive tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre.

A four-star foursome heads the caper-cutting cast—Judy Canova, Allan Jones, Ann Miller, Jerry Colonna. Judy is a tight-rope walker in a small-town circus. While she is doing her stunt she sees, and is seen, by a group of gangsters who kill the circus owner. In order to escape the gangsters Judy hides out in the army camp where her boy-friend, Jerry Colonna, is chief pigeon-trainer.

Jerry and Allan Jones, an ex-producer in khaki whose bit includes putting on a camp show, get Judy into a uniform, cut her hair and try to pass her off on Sergeant William Demarest as just one of the boys. The trouble this leads to, and the fun, make "True to the Army" a truly hilarious film.

HORROR DRAMA OAK BAY, PLAZA

Lionel Atwill has played more than a score of medical roles on the screen, and has had particular success in horror films.

Atwill was a doctor in "Man Made Monster," "The Mad Doctor of Market Street," "The Strange Case of Dr. Rx," and others.

Now the actor has one of his most important doctor roles in "The Ghost of Frankenstein," Universal's terrifying horror drama coming today to the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres.

This time Atwill stands in the shadow of another doctor, Frankenstein, the latter played by Sir Cecil Hardwicke. But in climactic scenes it is Frankenstein's treacherous assistant, portrayed by At-

Saanich Berries Unharmed by Rain

J. J. Young, secretary of the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, said today rains over the week-end had not done any damage to the Saanich strawberry crop, the size of the crop was fair and the berries were in good shape.

In the Fraser Valley, however, weather conditions have threatened strawberry growers with the loss of a fifth of their crop. Low-lying strawberry fields today are covered with water, causing the suspension of picking in affected districts.

J. B. Shimek, manager of the Pacific Co-operative Union at Mission, said the loss of crop was "the worst blow that has fallen on the industry for some time." The berries are rotting on the straw, which is thoroughly saturated, and any of those which are saved will be soft and sandy, he said.

Hundreds of Vancouver and Fraser Valley persons volunteered to pick berries over the week-end, but the weather obviated the need for their services.

WANT PICKERS

In Victoria the Chamber of Commerce said more pickers were needed and the picking was going ahead today. Pickers were busy Sunday during the rain.

Meanwhile, Premier John Hart, Agriculture Minister K. C. Macdonald and Labor Minister Geo. S. Pearson conferred today on Fraser Valley strawberry growers' Saturday plea that the government do something to alleviate the labor shortage for harvesting the $1,500,000 strawberry crop.

"We are giving every consideration to this serious problem," was all the Premier could say at noon. He said there were shortages in every other industry.

Dr. Macdonald returned today from the interior of the province. Shortage of labor, he says, was serious, although people in Okanagan towns had organized school children service club members and many others to work in the fields.

Cattle were bringing unusually high prices in the interior, Dr. Macdonald said, the crops were growing luxuriantly. Farmers would be happy if they could obtain labor.

Liquor Board Moves

On the 21st anniversary of the coming into operation of the Liquor Control Act, the B.C. Liquor Board today moved from Belmont House to its new quarters in Temple Building, recently purchased by the government.

Extensive alterations have been carried out and the old building at the corner of Fort and Langley was redecorated.

For 21 years headquarters of the liquor board had been in Belmont House. Space occupied by the board is now required by the R.C.A.F.

Withdrawal of the Civic Employees Protective Association, organization of the outside staff, from the Civic Federation of Greater Victoria, was announced to the city by the association today.

Death of Boy Was Accidental

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury at the inquest at Hayward's today on 3-year-old Dennis John Lampert who died Friday morning in the Jubilee Hospital after being dragged 72 feet by a street car on Burnside Road.

The boy was hit by the car driven by Daniel J. Matheson, going east on Burnside; carried on the life guard, and remained unconscious until he died. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Lampert, 3114 Steele Street.

Frederic Francis said he saw one of two boys standing on the curb run into the path of the car, and added "from the minute I saw the lad running on to the street, I knew it would be an accident."

Daniel J. Matheson, driver of the street car, who has been with the B.C. Electric Co., Ltd., 35 years, said he rang the bell loudly, and applied the emergency brakes when he saw the boy rushing from the curb to the street.

Dr. T. T. Shields To Speak Here

Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields, pastor of Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto, known as "the Spurgeon of Canada," will give several addresses in Victoria next Sunday and Monday.

Dr. Shields has gained much fame for his militant support of evangelical protestantism. His name has been mentioned on the floor of the House of Commons as a result of some of his speeches.

Dr. Shields will speak at Centennial United Church and Central Baptist Church while in this city. At 3 Sunday afternoon he will speak on "The Roman Catholic Church, the Fourth Axis Power"; Monday evening at 8 he will speak on "Who Will Rule Canada, a Pope Plus or King George?" Both addresses will be given in Centennial Church.

Dr. Shields will speak at morning and evening services at Central Baptist Church Sunday. In the same church Monday afternoon at 3 he will speak on "Face to Face With Romanism in Quebec."

Rev. H. G. Martin, superintendent of Yonge Street Mission, Toronto, and executive board member of the Protestant League, will accompany Dr. Shields and will speak Sunday morning at the Christian Missionary Alliance, and in the evening at Centennial Church.

300 Seattle Carriers In City Sunday

Three hundred paper carriers of the Seattle Times came to Victoria, Sunday, on the annual outing sponsored by that newspaper. They arrived here at 12.30 in the afternoon and returned to Seattle by the 4.15 boat.

Although their stay was marred by a constant downpour the boys toured the city and took time out for a swim at the Crystal Garden.

Honor the Army Maj. Sivertz Urges Citizens

An appeal to the citizens of Victoria to take an active part in Army Week, to be celebrated across Canada June 29 to July 5, was issued today by Maj. G. Sivertz, M.M., press relations officer of M.D. 11, in an address to the Gyro Club.

"Make no mistake about it," Maj. Sivertz said, "this is our war and it is our army, not the Prime Minister's army nor the army of the general staff. None of us can escape the consequences of this war. Our little lives and our little concerns are bound up with the lives and concerns of millions of other free peoples. We are all partners in the greatest adventure that man has ever known; we are caught up in a moment of history, in a second of time in man's ceaseless march towards the Kingdom of God."

Details of Army Week, Maj. Sivertz said, would be carried in the press, but there was a part all could play as individuals.

HELP YOUNG SOLDIER

The young soldier seen on the street, he said, seems to regard himself as a cipher in a vast machine being trained for battle. Unlike the veteran who has the knowledge of 5,000 comrades marching at his side, the young soldier feels alone.

"What can we do about it," Maj. Sivertz asked. "Let's get behind him. He will never let us down. It is up to us to see that we do not let him down. Let's show our pride in him; he is carrying our uniform into battle. His life, not just his luxuries and hobbies, has been dedicated to his country to protect us. Let's speak to him with the respect that is his due."

Maj. Sivertz urged civilians to tell these young soldiers some of the imperishable glory earned by their fathers and uncles in 1914-18 to help them build that flaming spirit that made the old Canadians one of the greatest fighting units the world has ever seen.

"The material is the same," he said, "I see the same faces, the same calm consciousness of latent power; it is up to us to bring it to the surface and to salute it."

THOSE BRASS HATS

Asking what of the criticism directed at the "wooden-headed brass hats at Ottawa," Major Sivertz invited his audience to consider the men Canada has selected to direct the broad principles upon which the country's offensive strategy is based. He cited Lieut.-Gen. Stuart, the Chief of General Staff, coming here to direct the defence of this coast, as a man still young who has distinguished himself throughout his military career; Maj.-Gen. H. F. G. Letson, a Vancouver man, who as Adjutant-General, controls all that pertains to the welfare of the soldier, and Maj.-Gen. J. P. McKenzie, Quartermaster-General, a tough, hardworking engineer, and another B.C. man.

"I suggest," he said, "that these men will discharge their duties, day and night, with efficiency and devotion and that we have a little more faith. They are well deserving of it."

149 New Teachers For B.C. Schools

Fourteen new teachers have been graduated from Vancouver Normal School, six of them passing with distinction, according to a list made available today by the education department.

Victoria Normal pass list will not be released until near the end of the month. The Victoria school has made a practice in recent years of giving its students practical training in local public schools. Because of this their diplomas will not be ready until the public schools close June 26.

In the Vancouver school 140 students received Strathcona Trust Grade "B" physical training certificates. Gold medals for outstanding ability in this field were won by Loma Jean McKenzie, Vancouver, and Jas. Wm. Stewart, Vancouver. St. John Ambulance senior certificates were awarded to 155 students. Seven students failed to merit diplomas and will give up hope of teaching, or repeat their courses.

Seven of the students are university graduates and are entitled to teach in provincial high schools. Three of the students are graduates of the Toronto Conservatory of Music and one of these is also a trained nurse. Two of the graduates are married women.

Among the graduates was a Japanese from Stevenson.

Sgt. Pilot Cross Killed in Action

SGT. PILOT W. A. CROSS

Reported missing three months ago, Sgt. Pilot William Andrew Cross, age 28, is now listed as killed in action with the R.C.A.F., according to a telegram received by his wife, Mrs. Lois Cross, 916 Empress Avenue.

Sgt. Pilot Cross piloted a Stirling bomber in a raid on Essen Mar. 9. According to the telegram, which quoted International Red Cross sources, his plane was forced down over Holland. Sgt. Pilot Cross was buried at Uchelen, near Apeldoorn, Holland.

Born at Crescent Lake, Sask., Sgt. Pilot Cross came to Victoria as a boy. He was educated at Oaklands and Victoria High School. Previous to joining the R.C.A.F. in October, 1940, he was a motor mechanic. While on leave in Victoria, after winning his wings in May, 1941, he married Miss Lois Keeler.

Besides his wife, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, 2738 Higgins Street, and two sisters, Lorna, with her parents, and Mrs. Jack Patterson, 171 Cadillac Avenue.

15 Recruits For Reserve Army

When the opening hour came—9 a.m. today, Victoria's Reserve Army Recruiting Depot at 1238 Government Street (at Yates) was all set for business. Fifteen recruits were enlisted, divided among the 3rd Canadian Scottish, 13th Field Ambulance and the 203rd Field Battery—by the officers and men of the units of Victoria's Reserve Army Saturday night and today while they were preparing the quarters.

The signing on of these 15 men afforded a good test of the arrangements the five units have made to quickly handle recruits during the present week. Each unit has its own section in the commodious quarters with ample staff to answer questions and enlist men anxious to join. It was found that on Saturday it took on an average just under nine minutes to sign up a man and it is hoped to even reduce that time during the rest of the week.

Harry P. Hodges, Associate-Editor of the Times, returned Sunday from eastern Canada, having visited Ottawa, Montreal, New York, Buffalo and Cleveland.

Theodore E. Bernard's appeal against conviction and a $30 fine on a charge of dangerous driving on the Gorge Road May 8, opened before Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court today and continued this afternoon.

Roosevelt's Brotherhood Prayer

Text of the prayer written for the United Nations and used by President Roosevelt at the close of his address Sunday follows:

"God of the free, we pledge our hearts and lives today to the cause of all free mankind."

"Grant us victory over the tyrants who would enslave all free men and nations. Grant us faith and understanding to cherish all those who fight for freedom as if they were our brothers. Grant us brotherhood in hope and union, not only for the space of this bitter war, but for the days to come which shall and must unite all the children of earth."

"Our earth is but a small star in the great universe. Yet of it we can make; if we choose, a planet untroubled by war, untroubled by hunger or fear, untroubled by senseless distinctions of race, color or theory. Grant us that courage and foresight to begin this task today that our children and our children's children may be proud of the name of man."

"GRANT US SKILL AND VALOR TO CLEANSE WORLD"

"The spirit of man has awakened and the soul of man has gone forth. Grant us the wisdom and the vision to compre-

Consumers' Board Wants Volunteers

An appeal for about 200 volunteers to do clerical work for the consumers' branch of the regional committee of the B.C. Wartime Prices and Trade Board was made today by Mrs. Paul Smith, provincial chairman of the board.

Members of the Victoria branch of the committee met today in the new headquarters office in the Central Building to discuss the preparation and filing of the ration cards and record books which will be distributed to the general public this month.

Victoria members, each one representative of a national organization, are: Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, Women's Canadian Club; Dr. Olga Jardine, Provincial Council of Women; Mrs. Hugh A. McLeod, wife of the president of the Victoria Ministerial Association; Mrs. A. Leeming, Parent-Teacher Association; Miss Margaret Clay, Librarians' Association; Miss B. Rogers, Canadian Home Economics Association; and Mrs. M. Hall, Business and Professional Women's Club.

The remainder of the committee is in Vancouver, Mrs. Smith being chairman of both groups. Purpose of the consumers' branch was to help control inflation by controlling commodity prices, Mrs. Smith said. A price list had been compiled from statistics provided by representative buyers throughout the Dominion, the mean price being averaged from price listings made between Sept. 15 and Oct. 11, 1941.

It was the housewives' responsibility to watch prices and compare them to the listed ceiling and report any discrepancies to the board.

Local committees of the branch were assisting in the preparation of the ration books. The work was being done in June, Mrs. Smith explained, because more women were available this month.

Volunteers will copy the information provided by the individual consumers on their ration cards to ration books.

Rev. Arthur Leonard Celebrates Mass

Rev. Arthur Leonard, newly-ordained priest for the Diocese of Victoria, celebrated his first solemn mass at St. Andrew's Cathedral Sunday, at 11. He was assisted by Rev. Monsignor A. G. Baker, V.G., and Rev. W. J. Matte, S.F.M. Present in the sanctuary were Bishop John C. Cody and Rev. R. Roberts, S.F.M.

The choir, under the direction of Rev. J. A. Gaudette, gave a special mass for the occasion, including the "Kyrie Eleison and Gloria" from the "Missa Solemnis" by Robert Arthur Turton. The "Credo" from Father Laurentio Perosi's Mass, and the "Sanctus and Agnus Dei" from the Mass in D Minor by J. H. Stewart.

During the offertory the motet for the Pope was sung in four parts. The occasional sermon was preached by Bishop Cody, using for his text "Mary, Queen of Apostles, Pray for Us," taken from her litany.

Miss Marguerite McKay presided at the organ. After the mass, Father Leonard imparted his blessing to each one individually and gave a souvenir card of his ordination and first solemn mass.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy or Cunningham Drug Store, or any drug store, and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the bright of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

Sacs Now Top Coast League

For the second time within a week Wayne Osborne Sunday gave the Hollywood Stars additional cause to rue the trade by which they sent him to Portland a fortnight ago in exchange for hurler Whitey Hilcher.

Osborne pitched the Beavers to an 8 to 2 decision in Sunday's Pacific Coast Baseball League nightcap, thus accounting for both of Portland's meagre two wins in the seven-game series against Hollywood and all of the northerners' last three victories.

In the first game the Stars got Charley Root 16 hits and runs by batches, but the old major leaguer scarcely needed them as he limited the Beavers to four blows for a 13 to 1 verdict.

Hollywood clinched the series Saturday with a 7 to 3 victory, Portland hampering the effort only slightly by equaling the league record with five double plays.

San Francisco and Seattle split their Sunday bill, the Seals winning the first, 4 to 3, and the Rainiers the second, 5 to 1, but the Californians romped off with the series, five games to two.

At the start of last week the Los Angeles Angels held first place and whopped the Sacramento Senators twice. But Sacramento evened the score with two victories of its own. Then came the week-end triple stand and a sweep for the Pepper Martin crew. Today the Senators stand in first place, a full game ahead of San Diego, two games in front of Los Angeles.

Saturday it was 6 to 5 in 10 innings; Sunday, 6 to 0 and 6 to 3. San Diego also swept the week-end and, like Sacramento, finished with a 5 to 2 series-victory, topping Oakland 3 to 2 and 6 to 2 yesterday to climax the run.

This week's schedule sends Sacramento against the comparatively soft-touch Portlanders in the north. San Diego travels the length of the loop to Seattle, San Francisco goes to Los Angeles and Hollywood moves to Oakland. The San Diego-Seattle stand opens with a doubleheader Wednesday night; the others start Tuesday.

Scores follow:
First game—R. H. E.
Portland 1 4 1
Hollywood 13 16 0
Batteries—Liska, Cohen (4) and Leovich; Root and Brenzel.

Second game—
Portland 8 12 2
Hollywood 2 6 1
Batteries—Osborne and Leovich; Perez, Hilcher (2), Barisoff (4) and Atwood.

First game—

Second game (seven innings)

R.A.F. Albions Win Cricket

Posting one-sided wins over Garrison and Five C's, Albions and R.A.F. won Saturday's Victoria and District Cricket Association games. Albions trimmed the soldiers 147 to 61 at Work Point Barracks, while at Beacon Hill Park the British airmen ran into little difficulty in disposing of Five C's 60 to 22.

Phenomenal batting by G. Tuxford highlighted the Albion win. He pounded opposing bowlers all over the pitch to score 75 runs. Edwards was the only other Albion player to reach double figures. He scored 12 runs. Allwood, with 24, and Harper, with 18, were the only Garrison batsmen who gave trouble to Albions.

The loss by Five C's was the worst suffered in recent years. Attwell and Jack Payne bowled well to set down the airmen for only 60 runs, but Five C's ran into more than they could take when they attempted to hit the R.A.F. bowling.

Sgt. Thorne, crack air force bowler, and Beach knocked over seven of the churchmen's wickets for no runs. Only the 14 scored by George Whitehead made it look as though Five C's were in the game.

Shawnigan Lake School tucked away an easy win when they played Brentwood College at the Inlet school's grounds, Saturday afternoon. The score was 97 to 47, only three Shawnigan players batting to raise the winning total. Not out, with a respective 43 and 51 runs batted in, Shawnigan's Ewing and Gandoss were the outstanding players of the day.

In another Saturday exhibition Navy and University School played to a draw at the Mount Tolleme grounds.

Gallup Poll

German People Not Hated by Americans

PRINCETON, N.J.—In its attitude towards the German people as differentiated from the German government, the people of the United States today are at the same stage of thought as the people of Britain were when the war began in 1939—they blame the German government rather than the German people.

Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles expressed a viewpoint widely held by the American people when he recently declared that no element in any enemy nation should be forced to suffer after the war for the crimes of its leaders.

The overwhelming majority of U.S. citizens believe that the German government and not the German people, is the chief enemy. This fact is shown in personal interviews with a cross-section of the population in all the 48 states. The American Institute of Public Opinion (Gallup Poll) asked this question:

"In the war with Germany do you feel that our chief enemy is the German people as a whole, or the German government?"

Results are: German people, 6 per cent; German government, 79 per cent; no opinion, 15 per cent. Casualties of war and possible bombing of American coastal cities may change this attitude, as the British attitude on the same question was changed during the first year of the war.

BRITISH VIEW
Shortly after the war began in 1939, only 6 per cent of the people of England blamed the German people, according to a poll by the British Institute of Public Opinion. But after the fall of France in 1940, and the ruthless Nazi bombings of London and other British cities, there came a sharp change in the British point of view.

By the end of 1940, half of British voters were calling the German people their chief enemy. The trend is dramatically shown below. British attitude:

People Gov't. Undecided
September, 1939 6% 91% 3%
August, 1940 41% 56% 3%
November, 1940 50% 48% 2%

Apart from the Japanese attacks on bases in Alaska, continental United States has not yet felt the sting of German air attacks, and the people are therefore inclined to think in terms of the German government as their chief enemy, rather than the German populace itself.

Dorothy Dix:

Separation Is Dangerous For Married Boy and Girl

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a young girl in love with a boy with whom I have been keeping company for a year. I have been trying to persuade him to marry me before he goes into the army, but he refuses and says it will be best to wait until the war is over. I am scared that I will never get married if I wait that long. Do you think I should wait, or break up with him and look for someone else?

UNDECIDED.

Answer: I think the boy is exactly right about waiting until the war is over to marry, and I only hope he has enough backbone to refuse to let you rush him into a hysterical war wedding. He knows that in these uncertain times it is folly to take on new responsibilities, and that he is going to have plenty of cares and anxieties to worry over without adding the troubles of a family man to them.

He also realizes, as you do not, that absence puts a great strain upon the affections of young people, and that it is a dangerous thing for a boy-husband and a girl-wife to be parted. Both soon tire of being cut off from the pleasures and amusements of their time of life. They want to dance and go places and do things and chum around with other boys and girls. And if they do that, there is always the chance that they may forget the absent wife or husband and find someone whom they like better.

Hence the wise thing is for them to keep themselves free until the time comes when they can marry and lead a normal family life. Believe me, daughter, you would get mighty tired sitting up waiting for two or three years for your husband to come back, with no livelier amusement than reading an improving book, or looking for the letters that perhaps never will come.

LOOK BEFORE YOU LEAP.

Apparently you want to marry this boy not because you are so much in love with him, but because you are afraid you will be an old maid. You want to marry just to be a'marrying, and that is about the silliest reason on earth for doing it.

Look about you and see how many of your girl friends who are married are better off than you are with your job. Look at Sally whose husband knocked off work when he got married and makes her support him. Look at Janey whose husband drinks and beats her up when he is in his cups. Look at Mable who has aged ten years in the two she has been married and who look so dragged out with the cooking and washing and ironing and baby-tending she has to do that she makes you want to cry over her.

A good husband is God's best gift to a woman, but a bad husband is the worst curse the devil can send her. So don't marry any man who comes along just to be married. And don't marry any man until you find one you love enough to wait for until he is ready to marry.

WILL HAVE TO BE BRUTAL.

Dear Miss Dix: My husband's brother has recently married. He and his wife have a nice home of their own in another part of the state, but they are chronic visitors who descend on us, bag and baggage, without invitation whenever they want an outing. They use our house as a free hotel. The wife sleeps until 11 o'clock in the morning. Her husband wants his breakfast at 9. If they miss getting in at our dinner hour, they raid the icebox. We are people in very moderate circumstances, with a small house. I work at home as an artist from eight to ten hours a day and do my own housework; so all of this extra work and responsibility is breaking me down. Now my new sister-in-law has informed me that she intends to spend her vacation with me and is going to bring her mother along. What in the world can I do? How can I tactfully brush them off without hurting my husband's feelings?

N. G. L.

Answer: There is no tactful way of dealing with deadbeats. You have to be brutal with them because if they had any delicacy of feeling they would not impose themselves upon you. All that they are considering is beating a hotel bill by wishing themselves off on you.

If you haven't the nerve to tell them to their faces that you cannot afford to finance their outings, wait until they get home and then write them a letter in which you can tell them in unmistakable terms that you cannot afford the luxury of entertaining them and that, in addition to the expense they put you to, they interfere with your work and imperil your job, and that they will have to find another stopping place when they come to the city.

TOO MANY BEANS

Lots of other people are also afflicted with grafting relatives, and a number of women have written me how they solved this problem. One woman said that she lived in the country and that every Sunday a horde of her and her husband's relatives not only drove out but brought their friends along, for a good dinner of fresh vegetables and country chicken. She stopped them by the simple expedient of serving beans. Just beans. Nothing but beans. She filled them so full of beans that they quit coming.

Another woman, faced with the same situation, stuck up signs all over the house, reading: "Dinner $2." And when her uninvited guests arrived she told them how nice it was that they were her first customers. That was that, and the last of them. When we let ourselves be imposed upon, we have no one but ourselves to blame. If we had the backbone of a fishing worm, we wouldn't stand for it.

13 YEARS TOO LATE

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am the mother of a 13-year-old girl who is pretty, attractive, whom we dress beautifully and whom we have given every advantage she could ask. But she is practically impossible to live with. She is rebellious, unruly, high-tempered, has even struck me, and says the most terrible things to her father. We have tried everything we can think of in the way of persuasion, indulgences and denying her things she wants, but nothing does any good. She defies us. What can we do?

TROUBLED MOTHER.

Answer: You are just thirteen years too late in asking that question. You have evidently spoiled the girl rotten and now you are reaping what you have sown.

The best thing you can do now for her is to send her off to a boarding school. She will be ashamed to act among strangers as she does at home, and when she is away from you perhaps she will begin to appreciate your love and kindness to her.

Captain Cook Gave First Pigs to New Zealand

When we read about New Zealand, we may wonder where the old "Zealand" can be found. It is a province of Holland, and the name is spelled "Zeeland." The meaning is "Sea Land."

Much of the land in Holland was claimed back from the sea by the Dutch. New Zealand, on the other hand, was ready made when one of the islands was found by a Dutch captain named Tasman. The discovery took place 300 years ago this year.

New Zealand travelers looking at active volcano which smokes much of the time.

Tasman was on the point of making a landing when he saw natives on the shore. They seemed ready to fight anyone who came near, so he decided to sail on. All he had wanted was an extra supply of water, and he expected to find other islands where the natives would be friendly.

One hundred and twenty-seven years later, a British leader—Captain Cook—reached the same islands. With some of his men he went ashore. There was trouble with the natives, but Cook patched it up. Before leaving, the British set loose several pigs and fowls, thinking they would increase in numbers and at length would give a better supply of food to the natives.

Something about the islands made Cook want to return. In later years he visited their shores on three occasions.

As time passed, a British colony grew up. It was at first made up of traders and sailors who left their vessels to live on the islands. By the year 1840 there were about 2,500 whites in that year it became a part of the British Empire.

The number of whites grew rapidly. It was 37,000 in 1855, and six years later it reached 99,000. Today New Zealand has a population of about 1,650,000, and is one of the members of the British Commonwealth of Nations. Only about five per cent of the people are of the native Maori race. Almost all the rest are of English, Scottish and Irish descent.

New Zealand is made up of two large islands and a number of small ones. The two main islands contain about 99 per cent of the land. They are known as North Island and South Island.

New Zealand has many mountains, rivers and lakes. Amid the mountains are dozens of peaks of volcanoes. Most of the volcanoes are dead, but one of them—

North Island has boiling springs and geysers which throw water into the air.

Vancouver Girl In New York Show

NEW YORK (CP)—Margaret Bannerman, Canadian actress who achieved distinction on the London stage, has made a belated Broadway debut in the new musical comedy hit "By Jupiter." She plays the part of Herolita in this hilarious opus about the Greek conquest of the Amazons, proving she is equally at home on the musical comedy stage as in the more serious drama.

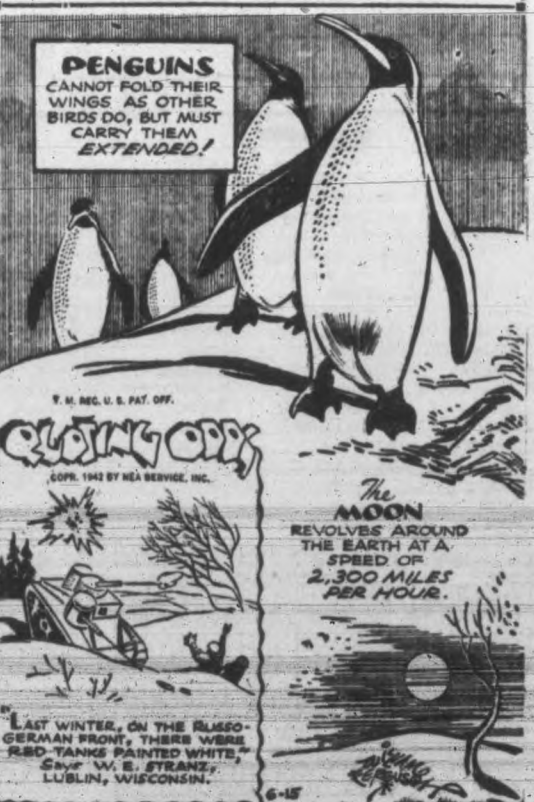

Miss Bannerman, a native of Toronto, has had difficulty finding a suitable part since coming to this side of the Atlantic.

Another Canadian touch is lent to the musical by Rosemary Sankey of Vancouver, who as a featured dancer whirls through Robert Alton's gay dance arrangements. A couple of seasons ago Miss Sankey was voted "the most versatile showgirl on Broadway."

Query Position On Bonus Issue

Civic employees who were retired and rehired under this year's policy of meeting superannuation act requirements and still retaining experienced workers in the war emergency, this week questioned their position in respect to cost of living bonus payments approved by the City Council.

That group was excluded from the benefit which gave $10 a month to family heads with dependents and $5 to those without dependents, provided they received salaries under $2,100 a year.

The bonus, however, was made retroactive to the first of the year. The mass retiring and rehiring took place at the end of March. Employees who would otherwise have been entitled to the bonus, except for the exclusion clause, expressed opinion they should at least get the bonus for the first three months of the year when they were in the position of those entitled to draw it.

30 Dresses Donated By Saanich Pupils

Thirty children's dresses, made by pupils of the Mt. Newton High School home economics and dress-making class, were presented to the Red Cross Friday night in the school auditorium. These were presented to Capt. N. Gray, chairman of the Saanich Red Cross unit, by Mrs. N. Whitehead, head of the home economics and dress-making course of the school.

Parents and school officials attending were welcomed by A. G. Smith, principal. School officials were Trustee Mrs. E. M. Bryce, Mr. and Mrs. J. Burridge, Martin Neilson, chairman of the Saanich School Board, and J. Gough, municipal school inspector, and his wife.

With the display were metal and wooden articles made by boys of the industrial arts classes. A wheelbarrow, tables and medicine chests were included in the exhibition. L. B. Matthews is in charge of technical work in the school.

Pastoral Letter Flays Naziism

"As in all Roman Catholic churches of Canada, a joint pastoral letter on the war, issued by the whole Catholic hierarchy of Canada was read Sunday in St. Andrew's Cathedral and all other Catholic churches of Vancouver Island diocese.

In part, the pastoral letter was as follows:

"His Holiness Pope Pius XII has never ceased to exhort all nations to respect the rights of God and of the Christian conscience. He has multiplied his writings and addresses; every day he has offered his prayers and mortifications to bring back peace to the world. We, on our part, have bent all our efforts towards that same peace; not a superficial and merely external peace, not a mere cessation of hostilities, which would open the way to domination by force and would allow the denial of God and social injustices of all kinds to go unpunished. Rather, the peace for which we long must be a true peace, the fruit of justice and charity; peace that will establish a wise and strong international order, which in turn will guarantee the personal rights of individuals, as well as the general good of nations and of the human race.

"One has only to study the anti-Christian doctrines and principles of Nazism in the light of the encyclical 'Mit brennender Sorge' of Pope Pius XI, and of the statements of the German hierarchy, and of the record of oppression and destruction in every country which has come under the yoke of Nazism, to realize the extremities of barbarism, persecution and irreligion, to which it would reduce all nations in the world conquest of which it dreams and towards which it strives.

"Consequently, dearly beloved in Christ, we were not surprised but sincerely and deeply elated at seeing you, from the very beginning of the conflict, generously respond to the call of your country. Truly a glorious page in our history will recall the devotion, courage and heroism aroused in our people by this present war.

"We must remember that a modern war is not won by the fighting forces alone. The war inflicted on us by our enemies demands a combined effort on the part of all people. We must therefore be prepared to support our fighting forces also in a material way; by our labor in war industries and agriculture and by participating in the auxiliary services. Again, by investing in war loans, by readily accepting the regulations concerning the saving and rationing of our resources, by submitting to the thousand restrictions imposed on us by wartime production and civilian defence.

"We must ensure the future welfare of our nation by perfect fidelity to the laws of Christian morality. Those who have been called to the training camps should remember that they need a more sublime heroism there than even on the battlefield; for they must show themselves worthy of the name of Christian; they must remain faithful to their wives, their homes and their families; in their leisure time they must not compromise their moral and physical integrity in sinful pleasures, and waste the strength they need for the service of God and country.

DRINKING

"At the same time we feel obliged to sound a warning against certain lamentable abuses in the matter of strong drink. The figures issued in the public accounts give more convincing evidence of its abuse than even the painful sights we witness every day. We consider it our pressing duty to urge the public and military authorities to use all the means in their power to curb these abuses, which are so injurious to the common good and prejudicial to our hopes for victory.

"With all our heart we deplore the practice of blaspheming and profaning the name of God, which too often obtains among military men. We appeal to the officers to do all in their power to stamp out this habit, which is so directly opposed to divine and human law. Likewise, we consider it our duty to call the attention of the proper authorities to the respect due to the Lord's Day.

"Dearly beloved, let us pray! Let us pray for those dear children of Canada, our sons, our brothers, our fellow-citizens, many of whom have already fallen in battle, and who make up our first line of defence and protection. Let us pray also for our governments; for all those whose responsibility it is to lead us to victory, and to the more difficult triumphs of a true and permanent peace, and the social reconstruction which must follow the war. For we need to scrutinize not only our enemies, but also ourselves. We must keep in mind that victory over our enemies will be useless, unless afterwards we establish a more just and equitable social order, in which human rights will be more fairly distributed, and intellectual, completely respected, wealth more moral and religious education more thorough and widespread."

A.R.P. Urges Citizens To Clean Up Rubbish

With approaching dry weather, Inspector A. H. Bishop, civilian protection officer, today again warned citizens of Victoria to clean up rubbish on vacant lots if they have not done so already.

"Should Victoria be subject to an attack with incendiary bombs, inflammable waste material on vacant lots would be a real fire hazard, he said. If not cleaned up, action will be taken to force citizens to remove this menace, the inspector said.

Following up the distribution of letters to all Victoria householders urging them to take the necessary air raid precautions in their homes, members of the city fire department next week will begin visiting homes to inspect details of A.R.P. work. Stickers will be issued to persons who have adequate air raid precautions in their homes.

Antique Organ To Be Displayed

June 20 the ladies of the United Empire Loyalists will give a tea from 3 to 6 at the home of Mrs. David Doig, 1999 Lansdowne Road. Tea will be served on the lawn and Miss Peggy Walton will sing. There will also be fortune telling.

A small organ of unusual and interesting history will be on display in the garden and will be played by Mrs. Phillips. This organ was taken from England to Dawson City during the Klondike gold rush of '98 and was subsequently bought by Mr. David Doig.

The proceeds will go towards the Queen's Canadian Fund, which is for relief of air-raid victims in Britain.

More than a fifth of the total population of England and Wales lives in Greater London, in normal times.

London A.R.P. Work Described to W.I.

Mrs. Redding, a Canadian who has recently returned from London, England, gave a vivid description of her personal experiences in Red Cross work over there, before the Craigflower Women's Institute at its recent meeting. Classes in A.R.P. started in 1938, prepared the people for the air raids which she said lasted at times from five to 12 hours and caused terrible havoc but could not wreck the spirit of the people. At one time when she was working in a hospital, bombs fell, wrecking parts of the building and disrupting the water system. It was three days before the water could be turned on in any of the taps. There were 1,200 beds in that hospital but the staff carried on and for the three days brought water into the building in kettles and buckets, she said.

Before leaving London Mrs. Redding visited the Red Cross depot where parcels from Canada were received and distributed. She was impressed with the number and suitability of the articles and said they were of the greatest possible help and fully appreciated.

Mrs. Rust also spoke of the importance of local A.R.P. work. She urged members to visit their nearest first aid post and familiarize themselves with its location and services, and also stresses the necessity of stocking these places with equipment, canned food and milk.

The meeting was held at the home of the president, Mrs. W. P. Rankin, and it was decided to discontinue meetings until September. A bazaar will be held in the fall.

Juniors in Recital

Intermediate and senior pupils who assisted in ensemble numbers were: Sheila Stewart, Hamish Nicol, Dick Hall, George Macereth, Peter Griffiths, Patricia Straughan, Patricia Williams, Betty McMillan, Clare Fyfe, Janet Bird, Audrey Harness, Helen McRae, Raymond Le Huquet and Jackson Todd.

Famous Principal To Retain Contact With Conservatory

Sir Ernest MacMillan, who recently resigned from the principalship of Toronto Conservatory of Music after 16 years in office, will retain close contact with the institution as Dean of Toronto University faculty of music.

In making the announcement, Floyd S. Chalmers, vice-chairman of the conservatory board of governors, has expressed much satisfaction that relationships are not being completely severed, and that the conservatory might hope to continue to benefit by the invaluable advice and experience of the retiring principal.

Sir Ernest's retirement will be effective September 1. He will be succeeded by Norman Wilks, executive officer of Toronto Conservatory of Music, and a distinguished pianist who is known to Victoria audiences as well as elsewhere throughout North America and Great Britain. He has been executive officer of the conservatory since 1936, and before that was a member for eight years of the piano faculty.

St. Ann's A.R.P. Test Pleases Authorities

Inspector A. H. Bishop, civilian protection officer, today complimented the staff of St. Ann's Academy on the efficiency with which they carried out an A.R.P. practice Friday afternoon.

The students were dispersed from the buildings and first aid was administered by pupils under supervision of the sisters. Six major "casualties" were sent to St. Joseph's Hospital for further treatment.

"This is the first time I've viewed improvised work," Inspector Bishop said. "They made stretchers from broomsticks and splints by rolling up magazines. I regret there has not been more improvised practice. Persons may be put in a position where they can't get ready-made equipment."

A.R.P. Activities

No. 1-A Oak Bay wardens will meet in the Municipal Hall, Oak Bay, Tuesday at 8. In continuation of the first aid class, Dr. Stewart will deliver the fourth medical lecture, while the practical demonstration will be under the direction of Mr. G. Sellers of the St. John Ambulance Brigade.

Wardens of District 2-A E. are requested to attend a lecture in the annex of the Margaret Jenkins School, Tuesday at 8. The subject will be "The Antiseptic Dressing of Wounds" and "Roller Bandaging."

Frontiersmen Need 110 Total Strength

The Legion of Frontiersmen, at present with 35 members, needs a total strength of 110 to efficiently discharge its duties as an auxiliary police force to the Victoria Police Department, Chief of Police J. A. McLellan stated today.

The frontiersmen, who will aid police in times of emergency, have been attending lectures each Thursday night by members of the city force on police work. Within two weeks the organization will start first aid classes, to be held at St. Louis College, Tuesday nights.

As an example of the work done by the Legion of Frontiersmen, the chief mentioned Thursday night's A.R.P. demonstration, in which 26 members took part, groups attending incidents in company with police officers. He said they assisted in controlling crowds, shutting off streets and assisting in many lines of duty that called for police attention.

At present the members wear police arm bands, but in a short time will be supplied with uniforms. These will be of blue serge, with plain trousers, a three-button straight front coat with a sufficiently fitted back so that a Sam Browne belt can be worn and epaulettes on the shoulders. Headgear will be stetson hats.

Superfluity Sale To Aid Russians

The British-Russian Aid Committee is arranging a rummage and superfluity sale for Saturday, June 27, and an appeal is being made for donations of all kinds of saleable articles. Clothes, especially summer and beachwear, household oddsends, novelties, etc., are needed in order that as much as possible may be raised.

Medical assistance is very urgently needed and the funds will be distributed to the Soviet Union by the Canadian Red Cross. All donations may be left at Room 2, 1006 Government Street, every afternoon between 2 and 5, except Wednesdays, or phone Beacon 2687, evenings.

Teachers and Cadets Will Go to Calgary

Seven teachers and more than 130 Victoria Air Cadets of Greater Victoria schools will go to Calgary this summer to train in the instructional course being offered there by the R.C.A.F. The teachers will leave tonight. The cadets will depart July 11, the former staying a month and the cadets for a week.

At the school in Calgary, No. 3 Flying Service Training School, the teachers will learn of airplane mechanics, armaments and technical points of the R.C.A.F. Upon their return they will be more qualified to instruct cadets here.

Expenses involved are being carried by the R.C.A.F. At Calgary the teachers and cadets will be stationed at the school for the complete course and will "get the feel of living at an air base," according to P.O. Grant Paterson, Air Cadet instructor of Victoria High School.

Each high school of Greater Victoria will be represented by cadets and teachers. The course is open to all of British Columbia.

City Man Promoted In U.S. Air Force

Hundreds of homeowners who have tried other systems are now changing over to Fairbanks-Morse Automatic Coal Heating.

Apart from the comfort and simplicity of this clean, economical heating, there are special reasons why its installation at the present time is advisable.

When it replaces an existing oil burner it, of course, releases much needed oil for war purposes. Then, again, it burns cheaper grade Canadian coal, thus conserving foreign exchange. And finally, when fitted to a coal burning furnace, it reduces the amount of coal you formerly used thereby freeing additional supplies for industrial use and saving transportation space for vital war freight.
